'Copter Refugee Lift Brings Red Protest

East Germans Claim Violation Of Sovereignty

BERLIN (AP) — The East German Foreign Ministry said Thursday night the lifting of seven refugees from Steinstuecken by U.S. Army helicopters was an "act of organized kidnapping" and a violation of East German sovereignty.

The East German refugees escaped into the small Steinstuecken district, a part of West Berlin that is surrounded by East German territory, and were lifted out Wednesday by the helicopters.

The hamlet has become a symbol of Western rights in West Berlin. It has only 200 inhabitants and is 700 yards beyond the borders of the Western sector.

'Copters On Routine Visit

A U.S. Army spokesman said the helicopters were on a routine visit to the hamlet and agreed to fly the refugees out. Had they attempted to reach the main part of West Berlin by road they would have been caught by Communist police.

"Only because of the utmost restraint shown by the organs of the German Democratic Republic was a serious incident avoided," an East German Foreign Ministry spokesman said.

The East German Foreign Ministry stated that the overflight of East Germany by the helicopter had clearly violated East Germany's "air sovereignty."

A spokesman for the U.S. mission in Berlin said merely, "We do have the right to fly over territory within Berlin air space and this was well within it."

Reds Claim Names Known

The East German Foreign Ministry claimed the names of the persons flown out by the Americans "are well known to us."

Steinstuecken is one of the points where refugees are still getting out of East Germany.

East Germany is tightening the security belt all along her 835-mile border with West Germany, an unofficial Western intelligence agency reported.

In Berlin the Reds extended the strip of no-man's land in an effort to make the 25-mile border escape-proof.

Despite increased Communist vigilance, there were still scores of daring escapes in Berlin.

During the night, West Berlin police counted at least 33 escapes.

Tear Gas Used In Algiers Riot

ALGIERS (AP) — Riot squads threw dozens of tear gas and concussion grenades at a mob of about 100 youths Thursday on a main Algiers street. No casualties were reported in rioting that followed a traffic jam demonstration called by the Secret Army Organization.

Armored cars, water cannon and platoons of steel-helmeted police at both ends of the street chased the young gang back and forth. Sometimes the mob dispersed into narrow side streets only to reform after the withdrawal of police.

The youths rolled steel barrels down the hill toward one platoon of police. The police avoided closing in on the youths for a showdown fight, preferring to push them back and forth up and down the street. Several store windows were broken by the concussion grenades, which make a loud noise but throw off no steel fragments.

Sentenced To Death

Melvin Davis Rees, Jr. (right), escorted by a federal marshal, enters court at Spotsylvania, Va., yesterday to hear a jury order the death penalty for him on the charge that Rees killed Carroll Vernon Jackson, Jr., of Apple Grove, Va., in January, 1959. Rees is already under two life sentences after conviction in a Baltimore federal court for the kidnap-slaying of Jackson's wife and daughter.

Jury Orders Death Penalty For Rees

SPOTSYLVANIA, Va. (AP) — A jury ordered the death penalty Thursday for Melvin Davis Rees, Jr., 32, a professional dance band musician accused of waylaying and killing a Virginia farm family of four.

The 10 men and two women of this northern Virginia county jury deliberated only 25 minutes before reaching their verdict of guilty of murder in the first degree. They fixed the punishment as death by electrocution.

The verdict was on the charge that Rees killed the father of the family, Carroll Vernon Jackson Jr., after Jackson, his wife and their two small daughters had been forced from their car on a January night in 1959.

Rees, of Hyattsville, Md., already was under two life sentences imposed in a Baltimore federal court for the kidnap-slaying of the mother and one of the daughters.

In Washington, the Department of Justice said the federal sentence of life would take precedence over the state sentence. However the federal government could commute its sentence, thus giving the state custody of Rees. A spokesman said there probably would be no move by the federal government until appeals are exhausted.

Rees, slender and darkly handsome, displayed no emotion as the verdict of death was announced in Spotsylvania Circuit Court. His father sat two rows behind him in the small courtroom. His mother was not present.

Jackson and his family — a young family neighbors said didn't have an enemy in the world — disappeared Jan. 11, 1959, while returning to their central Virginia farm home after a Sunday visit with Mrs. Jackson's parents.

Two months later, an abandoned sawmill site near Fredericksburg yielded the bodies of Jackson, 29, and his younger

Atlanta Stores' Lunch Counters Desegregated

ATLANTA (AP) — Several lunch counters and restaurants in Atlanta stores were desegregated Thursday, six months after a truce was reached between merchants and Negro student sit-in leaders.

No incidents were reported. Negroes were served in the dining facilities of at least six stores shortly after the noon rush hour. Four young Negro women, one the sister of the first Negro student admitted to Georgia Tech, were seated for lunch in the tea room of Rich's, the city's largest department store.

Simultaneously, Negroes were served at Davison's, another department store, and at the lunch counters of four variety stores. A total of 182 Negro and white demonstrators were arrested last spring when they sought to break the color bars at downtown eating facilities. They were charged with violating an antiretrogression law that the legislature has enacted after the sit-ins began in other states.

Vacationing President Halts Warship For Look

NEWPORT, R.I. (UPI) — President Kennedy, yachting with his wife and their daughter Caroline, had a Navy destroyer halted in Narragansett Bay Thursday for a shipside look at the vessel and some 225 saluting crewmen lining on deck.

Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy, wearing chateaufort slacks, blouse and kerchief, held 3½-year-old Caroline by the hand and pointed to the sailors as the 92-foot presidential yacht, Honey Fitz passed beside the 500-foot long grey battleship USS. Willis A. Lee. The first lady and Caroline were on the top deck of the Honey Fitz, while the President and a guest, artist friend William Walton, were on the fan tail. Kennedy stood and waved, returned the destroyer's salute and peered with binoculars.

GOP Cheers Nixon's Entry In Calif. Race

Rockefeller Still Believes Ex-Veep Will Be In '64 Fight

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Most Republicans welcomed Thursday Richard M. Nixon's entry into the gubernatorial scramble in California. For a different reason, so did California's Democratic governor, Edmund G. Brown.

The view that Nixon still may be in the battle for the 1964 Republican presidential nomination—despite his vow not to seek the role—was expressed by Brown and by Republican Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York.

Rockefeller, who may seek the GOP presidential nomination himself, said he couldn't eliminate Nixon from the picture because a draft would always be a possibility. Nixon's statement did not close the door on this.

Brown, predicting he will whip Nixon for the governorship, told newsmen: "I welcome the opportunity to confront Richard Nixon in a campaign that once and for all will retire him to private life."

A note of Republican regret was voiced by Sen. Wallace F. Bennett of Utah, who said, "I am sorry to see Dick abandon the national platform for a state platform but the California GOP gave him no choice. He is a young man and perhaps he will run for president in 1968."

Leading the applause for Nixon's decision was his old chief, former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, who said: "I am sure members of the Republican party as well as large numbers of Democrats and independents join me in wishing him well."

"He will be another leading Republican figure among the great group that will be offered to the American people for public service by our party this year and next. He is my good friend and longtime intimate associate and my admiration for him is well known."

Some California Republicans were not as jubilant as the state's party leaders about Nixon's candidacy for the GOP nomination. An intraparty squabble was in prospect.

Former Gov. Goodwin J. Knight, a Republican, said he's still in the race. So did Assembly Minority Leader Joseph C. Shell of Los Angeles, also a Republican.

Ford Strike Set Tuesday

DETROIT (AP) — United Auto Workers President Walter P. Reuther set a 10 a.m. Tuesday strike deadline against Ford Motor Co. in a move Thursday to break a deadlock in contract negotiations.

Reuther announced the strike deadline at a news conference shortly after he returned to the bargaining talks where bargainers are debating noneconomic issues. His statement was in the form of a letter to Malcolm Denise, the top Ford negotiator.

A strike at Ford would idle more than 120,000 hourly workers and halt 1962 model production. Ford and the UAW have been working on a day-to-day extension of their old agreement. The extension is subject to cancellation by either party on 48 hours notice.

Prospects for a complete settlement of the Ford-UAW agreement within the next few days diminished quickly Wednesday when bargaining teams split up into subcommittees to study contract changes sought by both the union and company.

Up for intensive discussions were pensions, insurance and supplemental unemployment benefits. Also assigned to subcommittee study were problems involving the Ford steel plant in Dearborn, Mich.

Smelter Explosion Kills 2, Injures 42

EAST CHICAGO, Ind. (AP) — Two workers were killed and 42 others injured in an aluminum smelter explosion that shook the U.S. Reduction Co. plant Thursday.

George Gattle, 43, East Chicago, died from burns over most of his body in St. Catherine Hospital several hours after the blast. The body of Abraham Smith, Gary, was pulled from the rubble around the No. 5 furnace, which was being fired up with coke.

Nine other workers were admitted to the hospital as patients, and two of them were reported in serious condition. The other injured were released after treatment.

Tribute To Hammarskjold

Swedish diplomat Johan Beck-Friis places a wreath on casket of Dag Hammarskjold at Bromma airport in Stockholm. Tribute was on behalf of King Gustav VI Adolph of Sweden and during mourning service for Hammarskjold and nine companions who died in a plane crash in Africa. It was held just after the bodies were returned to Stockholm. An honor guard stands by and a rope holds back spectators in background.

Swedes Accord Hammarskjold Hero's Honors

STOCKHOLM (AP) — More than 250,000 Swedes in a silent, moving spectacle paid tribute Thursday night to Dag Hammarskjold, their fellow countryman who lost his life on a quest for peace.

Hammarskjold's body arrived earlier in a flag-draped casket at the airport where he had departed eight years ago to become secretary-general of the United Nations. He perished last week in a plane crash in the African bush.

Funeral services will be Friday at the university town of Uppsala. "Nothing like this has ever happened in Stockholm before," a veteran police official commented on the tribute. "Just look—"

In four seemingly never-ending columns, men, women and children streamed into the old Gaerdet parade grounds.

At the head of each column marched Swedish U.N. soldiers followed by more troops carrying the flags of other United Nations members. One flag was that of the Soviet Union whose premier once called Hammarskjold "this lackey of the colonist powers whose hands stream with the blood of Lumumba."

Behind the soldiers trudged laborers, businessmen, housewives, civil servants, athletes, doctors, students and children. With Hammarskjold's body arrived 14 others—those of three Americans, a Canadian, an Irishman, a Haitian and eight Swedes. Their lives were snuffed out Sept. 18 as Hammarskjold flew on a mission to try to settle the trouble in Katanga.

The body of the 15th victim, Vladimir Fabry, an American whose home was in Switzerland, was taken to Geneva.

At Friday's rites, President Kennedy will be represented by Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson.

Adlai E. Stevenson, U.S. ambassador to the United Nations, Sen. Thomas H. Kuchel of California and Henry R. Labouisse, outgoing foreign aid director, will accompany Johnson.

Michigan Pipe Smoker Outlasts Field Of 19, Including Wife, To Capture Title

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—Out of the misty haze that hung heavy over a hotel lobby, Arthur Gerdes of Flint, Mich., emerged Thursday as champion pipe smoker of 1961.

He puffed and got results from his straight-stem, square-bowl briar for one hour, four minutes and 17 seconds to outlast a field of 19, including his wife and two other women champions. Thus he won the world's championship of the International Association of Pipe Clubs.

It's the deliberate smoker—and not the fast draw—who wins these leisurely competitions. But flame-out—the bugaboo of pipe smokers long before anyone heard of jet engines—can get the smoker who tries to be too deliberate. Relights

Paint-Scorching Speed Run Made By Rocket Plane

EDWARDS AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP)—The X15 roared 3,545 miles an hour Thursday — and withstood temperatures reckoned at 1,000 degrees—in a test of heat dangers space craft would face.

The rocket plane's pilot, Navy Cmdr. Forrest S. Peterson, said afterward that scorching of paint inside the cockpit caused smoke that hampered visibility for 15 seconds.

Highest previous temperatures experienced was 850 degrees Fahrenheit. The plane was designed to withstand 1,200.

The heat, created by air friction and compression of the same type that a space craft would encounter returning to the earth's atmosphere.

Thursday's top speed was 100 m.p.h. under the record 3,645 set by the X15 Sept. 12. Peterson attained it in level flight at 82,000 feet, where he leveled off after zooming to 100,000.

Eight Of Family Perish In Fire

PORT DOVER, Ont. (AP)—Eight members of a family planning to celebrate the father's birthday perished in their sleep early Thursday when fire swept their wood and tarpaper home near this Lake Erie community. Only a teen-age daughter survived.

The father, Joseph Roswell, was 51 Thursday and neighbors said the family had prepared a celebration. The fire broke out after midnight.

Roswell's daughter, Mary, 16, escaped and ran down the street screaming.

A neighbor, Harry Kniffen, drove four miles to Port Dover to call the fire department. He had no phone. When the eight-man volunteer unit arrived the house was enveloped in flames.

The bodies of Mary's parents, three brothers and three sisters were found on their beds. Mary, who suffered second-degree burns, was reported in only fair condition at Simco Hospital.

West Asks U.N. Apply Pressure For A-Test Ban

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The United States and Britain proposed Thursday that the U.N. General Assembly throw its weight behind President Kennedy's call on the Soviet Union to resume talks on a nuclear test-ban treaty.

The two Western powers introduced a resolution asking endorsement of the need for completing action on a treaty providing adequate controls to prevent cheating.

It was the latest development in an East-West race to present conflicting disarmament proposals to the 100-nation assembly. The Soviet Union brought in its detailed stand Wednesday—including a demand that the test issue be submerged in over-all disarmament talks.

The assembly itself went into recess until Monday. Delegates and U.N. personnel attended a memorial service for Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold, whose funeral will take place in Uppsala, Sweden, Friday.

There was no agreement reported on a formula for permitting the assembly to name a stop-gap successor to Hammarskjold, diplomats hoped the assembly might come to grips with the issue sometime next week.

Both this issue and Berlin were of special concern to U.S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk and British Foreign Secretary Lord Home, who called off travel plans to maintain close personal contacts. Rusk will confer for a third time Saturday with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko. Rusk and Home had breakfast together Thursday.

At the assembly session Danish Foreign Minister J. O. Krag suggested it might be a good idea for the United Nations to put one of its agencies in Berlin. He said a useful psychological effect might be created if Berlin became a center for "constructive cooperation."

UAR Leader Acts To Crush Army Revolt

Mutiny Begins In Damascus; Aleppo Joins Insurgents

By WEBB MCKINLEY
BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Syrian army officers revolted Thursday and defied President Gamal Abdel Nasser's attempts from Cairo to stifle their uprising against his United Arab Republic. The rebellion began in the Syrian capital of Damascus and was reported to have spread to the key northern city of Aleppo.

Calling themselves the "higher Arab revolutionary command of the armed forces," the insurgents claimed in a Damascus broadcast that the northern Syrian armed forces including an armored division had joined the rebellion.

Aleppo radio, loyal to Nasser during the day, suddenly switched and said a commando division and a military training center garrison had joined the insurgents and seized control of Aleppo.

Insurgent broadcasts made bitter personal attacks on Nasser for

Revolt Appears Purely Internal Affair, U.S. Says

WASHINGTON (AP) — The State Department said Thursday the anti-Nasser revolt in Syria appeared to be a purely internal affair—not fomented by any outside power.

It added that all Americans in the area—an estimated 400-600 depending on the number of tourists now there—are believed to be safe.

U.S. authorities, for the time being at least, were sticking to a hands-off policy toward the revolt by Syrian army officers against United Arab Republic President Gamal Abdel Nasser's rule.

Officials noted that the United States recognizes the U.A.R. union under Nasser's leadership and has had friendly relations with the Arab leader.

his treatment of Syria since it joined Egypt in 1958 to form the U.A.R.

The Syrian vice president of the U.A.R., Abdel Hamid Serraj, resigned this week in apparent disgust over his diminishing powers under Nasser.

A rebel broadcast from Aleppo said Nasser himself endangered U.A.R. national unity and added, "He aims to make blood flow and to pit brother against brother in the interest of his hated tyranny." Nasser vowed in Cairo he would make no compromise or bargains with the rebels in his determination to preserve the union of Egypt and Syria, which is less than four years old.

In a series of emergency orders Nasser fired six Syrian military officers of the republic, including two major generals.

They had been directly under Nasser's closest military chief, Field Marshal Abdel Haim Amer, the one-time wonder of the Nasser-led Egyptian revolution that overthrew King Farouk in 1952 and started Nasser building his "Arab nation."

Amer and Gen. Gamal Feisal, commander of the Syrian army, were held virtual prisoners in Damascus during the day and then were allowed to fly back to Cairo at night to report personally to Nasser.

In a gravely worded second nationwide broadcast of the day from Cairo, Nasser appealed to all officers and men of the U.A.R. armed forces to do their duty. He stopped short of issuing an outright order to loyal troops to start shooting.

In an earlier broadcast he had ordered the mechanized, well-equipped units of the Egyptian army in Syria, about 15,000 strong, to crush the rebellion, which he called more serious than the Israeli and British-French invasions of Sinai and Suez in 1956.

Cutlery were clamped on both Damascus and Aleppo. In Aleppo the radio warned that persons trying to oppose the insurgents (Continued on Page 2, Col. 3)

Birth Control Gets Episcopal Sanction

DETROIT (AP)—The Episcopal Church Thursday endorsed artificial birth control when in "obedience to all the duties of marriage," and urged government aid to family-planning overseas.

It is the first time the 3½-million-member denomination has officially sanctioned such practice, although it has been generally condoned in the church in recent years.

Nasser UAR Move Thwarted Reds In Syria

By GEORGE MCARTHUR
CAIRO (AP) — When Egypt and Syria were merged as the United Arab Republic by joint proclamation Feb. 1, 1958, the suddenness of the long-discussed union stunned seasoned Middle East experts. It was reported shortly afterward that Syria had told Egypt there must be a hasty linkup or Syria would be swallowed by communism.

Two weeks before the proclamation a high Syrian delegation came to Cairo to work out details of amalgamation of the two sovereign nations. At that time President Gamal Abdel Nasser's closest friends denied union would be achieved quickly. They recalled that talk about union had been going on for almost two years.

After union was proclaimed, informants said the Syrians came to Nasser and told him bluntly: "Either you achieve union immediately or Syria risks being taken over by the Communists."

Although Nasser has cooperated closely with the Soviet Union, he has staunchly opposed any Communist activities at home. Known Egyptian Communists have been jailed.

According to Nasser's close friends the Communists were trying hard to establish a satellite state in the Mideast. They were about to achieve their goal in Syria when Nasser at the last moment thwarted their plans by proclaiming the union.

Nasser knew well that ruling Syria would not be easy. He expected trouble in dealing with the Syrians, who are accustomed to political upheavals. Nasser's trusted friend and supporter in this job was Abdel Hamid Serraj, head of the Syrian intelligence bureau.

Nasser apparently tried hard to mollify the Syrians.

However, Serraj remained in the area working under Nasser. And Serraj was described as a generally disliked man because of his police state methods. He continued to employ these methods.

Last July Nasser brought Serraj to Cairo as vice president, thus removing him from the hotbed of Damascus.

That may have been the beginning of the current coup.

At the time Serraj was being eased out, new socialization decrees imposed by Nasser were encountering serious opposition among formerly free-wheeling Syrian traders and businessmen.

Before resigning, Serraj as a U.A.R. vice president, was reported to have tried to capitalize on discontent by attempting almost openly to stir up strikes by workers and resentment within the army.

Grand Opera Nearly Goes Horse Opera

TOKYO (AP)—A dappled nag from a local track nearly turned grand opera into horse opera, with soprano Renata Tebaldi playing the female lead.

It happened in the closing moments Thursday of the opera "Andrea Chenier," a somber musical tale of the French Revolution.

The horse had been pressed into the act to pull Tebaldi and Italian tenor Mario del Monaco off to the guillotine in a tumbrel.

As Tebaldi and Del Monaco sang their stirring farewell duet outside the jail, the horse pawed the stage. When the stars moved to step into the cart, he bolted forward a few steps.

The music swelled. The audience, including Japan's Crown Prince Akihito and the crown princess, leaned forward. Del Monaco seized Tebaldi by the wrist, swung her into the tumbrel and jumped in beside her.

The singers straightened up and made a graceful exit.

"This was an exciting night," Miss Tebaldi said.

Booby Traps Protect Lavish Fallout And Bomb Shelter

CALEDONIA, N.Y. (AP)—Hugo Maria Kellner, a doctor of philosophy and a German veteran of World War II, has constructed a lavish fallout and bomb shelter in the hills of this village 20 miles south of Rochester.

The shelter, which approximates the size of a large ranch house, is designed, Kellner emphasizes, for his family only, which includes nine children.

It is protected against intruders by booby traps and he is prepared, he adds, to use weapons if necessary to keep outsiders from entering the shelter.

The shelter, he estimates, could accommodate 30 persons for several months. It includes decontamination showers, dehumidifying equipment, diesel-powered engines, air filters, water filters, food storage, water storage, a translator.

The 60-year-old Kellner, drafted by the Nazis during World War II is a meteorologist, came to this country in 1949. He works at Eastman Kodak Co., in Rochester as a translator.

Woolworth Co. To Go Discount

NEW YORK (AP)—The revolution in American retailing moved a step further Thursday as F. W. Woolworth Co., long known for its 5 and 10 cent stores, opened a drive to become the largest chain of discount houses in America.

The firm picked Columbus, Ohio, as the site for the first of 18 such stores it expects to build in the next 18 months. Although they will be called Woolco department stores—with no mention of the name "discount", President Robert C. Kirkwood made it clear they would operate as discount stores.

Kirkwood told a news conference Woolworth was ready to spend as much money as necessary in its drive. He gave the cost of the first unit as $1.5 million. This would be about average for the program, he said, thus indicating the firm is ready to spend at least $27 million in the continuing battle for the consumer's dollar.

UAR Leader

would be shot. Damascus radio declared all Syrian borders were closed until further notice.

If the rebels can back up their decree closing the borders, Nasser would be sorely put to rush loyal reinforcements to Syria—separated from Egypt by 150 miles on land and water routes.

The leadership of the insurgents indicated its aim was to win the Syrian region more autonomy in the U.A.R. or wrest it from the union completely.

The revolt followed by two days the resignation of the one-time Syrian strongman, Serraj, as U.A.R. vice president. Serraj helped agitate for the union with Egypt that was proclaimed Feb. 1, 1958, but he broke with Nasser this week in a dispute over his lessening influence in the government.

Aleppo radio said, "We intend to put authority in the trusted hands of the people who have trusted their army. We ask all other regions to support this movement by which we aim only to serve our homeland."

In claiming that Aleppo had joined the insurgents, Damascus radio declared, "The people here stand at our side and are anxious to preserve their national unity and they alone have the right to decide their own fate."

There were conflicting reports about the atmosphere inside Damascus.

Second-hand reports from the Lebanese-Syrian border quoted travelers reaching Lebanon before the borders closed as saying there was fighting inside the Syrian capital.

Later, taxi drivers who also got out before the closed-down said Damascus had been calm with no tanks in view and only small contingents of soldiers in the streets. One eyewitness reported hearing shooting—which could have been guns firing in celebration.

Nasser said the mutiny was undertaken by a small army element at Camp Katana and "received no support from the public." He said the Syrian army commander, Gamal Feisal, and most of the U.A.R. army remained loyal to Cairo.

New Coadjutor Archbishop Is Welcomed

BALTIMORE (AP) — Archbishop Lawrence J. Shehan, new coadjutor of the Archdiocese of Baltimore, was welcomed Thursday at a mass of reception at the Cathedral of Mary Our Queen.

The procession into the cathedral included archbishops, bishops and priests from throughout the nation.

Archbishop Shehan was serving as bishop of the Diocese of Bridgeport (Conn.) when appointed in July by Pope John XXIII as coadjutor archbishop of Baltimore with the right of succession to Archbishop Francis Keough.

Archbishop Shehan arrived here Wednesday and was greeted by Archbishop Keough and several hundred persons at the railroad station. He was taken in a motorcade to his new residence at the cathedral.

The high dignitaries of the church were dressed in purple and wore red or black berretta hats at the mass.

Archbishop Shehan gave a brief talk. He pledged complete loyalty to Archbishop Keough and spoke of the friendly relationship between the Catholic Church and the secular State of Maryland.

The cathedral was filled with church dignitaries, city and State officials and laymen.

Archbishop Shehan is a native of Baltimore and served as auxiliary bishop and as pastor of St. Philip and James Church here. He was auxiliary bishop here from 1945 to 1953 when he was named by Pope Pius XII to head the new Bridgeport diocese.

Librarians Find Odd Bookmarks

BLADENSBURG, Md. (AP) — Absent-minded bookworms leave some strange bookmarks in the volumes they return to the Prince Georges County Memorial Library.

Veteran librarians don't raise an eyebrow when they discover photographs, love notes, crushed flowers, potato chips and an occasional $5 bill in returned books. Mrs. Almira Costinett, a supervisor, recalls that a piece of cooked bacon was the first bookmark she found when she started checking returned books 10 years ago.

But even Mrs. Costinett was a little startled recently when a $1,000 check showed up. The owner was located and told of the discovery.

"Oh," said the lady, "is that what happened to that? I made out another check when I couldn't find that one. It was for a down payment on a piece of land."

Maryland Briefs

BALTIMORE (AP)—The Maryland Salary Board has proposed a new pay plan for state employees, under which both seniority and merit would be recognized in granting salary increases.

Under the proposal adopted tentatively, employees getting top in-grade salaries for three or more years would receive automatic increases. A worker showing exceptional merit would be eligible for a raise any time after completion of the seventh year of service, and could receive a second raise in some later year.

BALTIMORE (AP) — Pennsylvania Railroad service in Baltimore County was delayed briefly Thursday when one car of a freight train was derailed near Gunpowder Station. No one was injured.

BEL AIR, Md. (AP) — Ray T. Petty, 23, was killed on U.S. 1 five miles north of here Thursday when his car collided with a truck. Petty, whose home was in Darlington in Harford County, was the 310th Maryland highway fatality for the year. Highway deaths at the same time last year totaled 391.

CHEVY CHASE, Md. (AP) — Funeral services will be held here Friday for John G. Rouse, a prominent Baltimore banker. Rouse died Tuesday at the age of 77.

Rouse was a former director of the United States Fidelity and Guaranty Co., the Maryland Trust Co., the Baltimore branch of the Federal Reserve Bank of Richmond and the Western National Bank. Survivors include his widow, a son and a daughter.

BALTIMORE (AP) — Two Baltimore men charged with stealing a gold watch which may have belonged to Napoleon were arraigned Thursday and held for grand jury action.

Police said the suspects, Irvin M. Levin and Paul A. Stepek, admitted prying open a glass case at the Baltimore Museum of Art and taking the watch.

A third defendant, Michael Peter Jr., 50, a former Baltimore antique dealer, was arraigned on charges of receiving the stolen watch. The watch was recovered.

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP)—Two graduate students will share the University of Maryland's 1960-61 physics prize, it was announced Thursday.

The co-holders are John L. Stanford II of Baltimore and Peter N. Dobson Jr. of LaPorte, Tex. The prize goes to the first-year graduate student who has demonstrated the greatest promise for a career of fundamental research in physics.

A typical state takes in more money from its gasoline tax than from its property tax, auto license fees or inheritance tax.

Discrimination Charge Denied By U. Md. Head

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP) — Dr. Wilson H. Elkins, president of the University of Maryland, denied Thursday that the institution practiced discrimination in any way.

Elkins' denial came in answer to a statement Wednesday by Dr. Martin D. Jenkins, president of Morgan State College, that Maryland did not grant scholarships to graduate students from Morgan, a predominantly Negro college.

"The University of Maryland does not have any form of discrimination on the basis of race, creed or color," Elkins said. "Admission to the university at both graduate and undergraduate levels is based solely on the qualifications of the applicants."

Jenkins had charged at Morgan convocation exercises that while graduates of Morgan received scholarships for post-graduate study at Yale, Harvard and Princeton, four students who had graduate from Morgan in the top 10th percentile of their class had been refused grants at Maryland.

Conviction Of White Slavery Is Appealed

BALTIMORE (AP) — Attorneys for an Illinois couple convicted of violating the White Slave Act filed an appeal Thursday in federal court.

U.S. District Judge Roszel C. Thomsen set bail at $5,000 for Harold Sapperstein, 38, and at $10,000 for his wife, Anne, 27, both of Beecher, Ill. He did not indicate why bail was higher for Mrs. Sapperstein.

Attorneys for the Sappersteins appealed to the 4th Circuit Court of Appeals from a conviction and sentence Wednesday. The couple was being held in Baltimore City Jail pending the posting of bail.

W. Va. Plans Area Road, Bridge Jobs

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—Bids on construction of three new bridges and for three highway repaving projects will be opened by the State Road Commission Oct. 17. The cost was estimated Tuesday at about $14 million with the federal government footing part of the cost of five of them.

The projects include: Berkeley — repaving 2.3 miles Sec. 3 between U. S. 11 and Interstate 81.

Hardy — bridge and approaches on W. Va. 55 at Baker's Run. Pocahontas — bridge and approaches on W. Va. 28 over Deer Creek.

Zuckert To Appear

PRINCETON, W. Va. (UPI) — Secretary of the Air Force Eugene M. Zuckert will participate in ground-breaking here Oct. 18 for a new $1 million North American Aviation Inc. plant, it was announced Wednesday. The facility will employ about 300 persons in production of aircraft and missile components when completed, the company said.

Dock Workers Strike

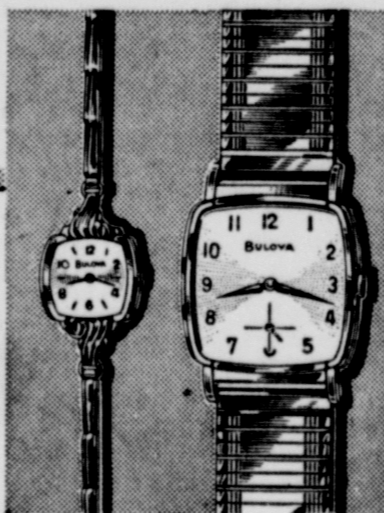

BUENOS AIRES (UPI) — Dock workers called a 24-hour strike Thursday to dramatize new wage-hour demands. The walkout affected the Argentine ships overseas.

Woman To Woman Circus-Style Rescue By Cop

By PATRICIA McCORMACK
NEW YORK (UPI)—A plucky grandmother aiming for a role on Broadway ranks as the newest stranger in town.

Mrs. Kenneth Sunderlin, 44, left Minneapolis via a cargo plane a couple days ago. She left behind her husband, a daughter, 17, a son, 10, and a ranch house in Blaine, Minn. Two older sons are in the Navy.

"If you can't get around a bush, the next best thing is to go through it," she said in an interview. "You get a few scratches but at least you get somewhere."

"I couldn't sit at home and wait for Broadway to come to me—and I do so want a career as a professional actress."

Mrs. Sunderlin came to the big city by cargo plane because it was the cheapest means.

Her excess baggage—80 pounds of clothes she made herself—boosted the price by $13.50.

She brought with her plenty of determination, self confidence and the experience she's gained in amateur theater. Her experience includes roles of magician, puffed up duchesses, maids, and old ladies.

What she didn't bring: Letters of introduction or a list of contacts.

"How could I," she said. "I know no one in New York and neither does anyone in Blaine."

When she left, her husband, Kenneth, a tool designer, said—"God bless you. Come home when you get ready."

Her daughter wished her good luck and said—"Mother, I hope you get what you want."

Richard told his mommy to send a bicycle when she gets rich.

"Richard," Mrs. Sunderlin said, "missed the point. I'm not doing this for money. It's love. Once I get Broadway experience, I can go back home and qualify for a role in the legitimate theater. I couldn't do that without Broadway experience."

Mrs. Sunderlin, trim, black-haired and bursting with personality, let herself out of her hotel Monday to visit Actor's Equity.

"I was here two days," she said, "before I got the courage to go out alone. This city is frightening."

She was given a list of plays now in the casting phase and will look up the casting directors. She's also reading "Variety"—the show business paper.

"I intend to answer all the ads that ask for females—small and plump," she said. "That's me."

"I wanted to do this 25 years ago," she said. "But I got married instead."

"Then about six months ago I just couldn't picture myself in a rocking chair without ever having tried to get myself on Broadway."

She talked to her husband about it and got his permission.

Other police hauled Diosa and Leonard inside.

As hundreds watched from the street below and from nearby windows, Leonard lowered himself over the roof edge. Diosa did not see him. As he descended, he saw her lean far over and start to lose her balance.

The patrolman let go of the slack and dropped about five feet as the men on the roof braced themselves.

He swung inward as the line tautened, toppled the child backward with a thrust of his palm and then scissored her between his legs.

PLAN WEDDING—Elizabeth N. Hotchkiss, 65, looks up at her fiance, James Lee Lockhart, 27-year-old stock company actor, after announcement they had taken out a marriage license in New York.

Mrs. Hotchkiss, a double divorcee and mother of two married daughters, said they would be married in New York today. She said they met in Great Barrington, Mass., where she makes her home.

They both worked at the Kate McComb Playhouse in the Berkshire community the past two summers.

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Eighteen Soviet technicians have been arrested in Guinea for stealing diamonds from guinea mines, a high administration office said Wednesday.

The official said the technicians were showing Guineans how to mine diamonds with one hand and taking the gems with the other.

He did not elaborate on the report, but cited the incident as one example of Soviet setbacks in Asia, Africa, and Latin America. He said other instances were the Soviet failure to dominate Western Europe after World War II and the more recent failure to penetrate the Middle East.

A Communist take-over was threatened in the Congo, he said, but he doubted that the Soviets will be able to control that African nation now.

"We are not going to run the world but unless I miss my guess the Russians are not going to either," said the official, who asked not to be identified.

Telephone Purchase

CLEVELAND (UPI)—Mid-Continental Telephone Corp. has arranged to buy Ashtabula Telephone Co. in an exchange of 5.3 shares of Mid-Continent common for each capital share of Ashtabula, subject to the approval of the latter's stockholders and the public service commission.

Style Show, Card Party Nov. 7, Dance Nov. 25

Plans for two benefit activities were formulated and a new tentative date for the Red Stocking Revue was selected at the meeting of the Junior Woman's Civic Club executive board Wednesday. It was held at the club house, with Mrs. Raymond Lapp Jr. presiding. Routine reports were given by Mrs. Ronald Chapman and Mrs. Wesley McGraw.

A benefit dance will be held November 25, with Mrs. Glen Brant, welfare chairman, in charge. The board will recommend that the proceeds be divided between Camp Tioga, the senior club's community project, and Friends Aware of Handicapped Children. This will be voted upon at the general meeting October 4.

The annual style show and card party for the operating fund will be held November 7, with fashions by Peskin's.

Because of the conflict of dates with the Philharmonic Orchestra concert the new tentative date for the Red Stocking Revue was set for March 23.

Mrs. Edward Mason reported she will set up a library to house the press book. It will be in the junior room of the club house.

A report of a Red Cross program to teach first-aid was given by Mrs. Leslie J. Clark, civil defense chairman. It is to start October 9 at the club house. A series of instructions will be given each Monday for six weeks from 7 until 10 p.m. by a Red Cross instructor.

The hospitality liaison committee was appointed for the coffee hour the club will give at the district meeting October 11. It consists of Mrs. Donald Mason, Mrs. John Mertens and Miss Marilyn Heiskell.

It was announced that Mrs. K. O. Nelson has been elected secretary of the Community Council. Mrs. Lapp announced that she and Mrs. William Bruce attended the state board meeting in the Emerson Hotel in Baltimore on Tuesday. At that time aims for the coming year were discussed. Mrs. Glen Burke read a letter transferring Mrs. Charles Barnes from the Junior Women's Club of Proctorville, Ohio. Mrs. Ronald Screen announced three new members, Mrs. Thomas Adams, Mrs. Richard Fox and Mrs. Conrad Zimmerman, who were accepted. Hostesses for the meeting were Mrs. Lapp and Mrs. Buford Saville.

There will be a hymn-sing at Old Furnace Acres, RD 1 Ridgeley, tonight at 7:30. It is sponsored by the Home Builders class.

COMPLETE PLANS—Mrs. Paul Rank and Robert Lewis, co-chairmen, go over the plans with their committee for the dance to be held tonight by the Young Republican Club of Allegany County. It will be at the Ali Ghan Country Club with the Gentlemen of Note playing from 9 until 1. Standing are Donald Mason, publicity chairman; Mrs. Raymond Tuwits, decorations; Mrs. William Sullivan, tickets, and Ralph Buser, prizes.

District 1 Nurses Appoint Delegates

District 1, Maryland Nurses Association appointed two delegates to the Maryland state convention and named a new member to the board of directors at the meeting Wednesday evening. Miss Jeanne Dauphin presided at the business session at Memorial Hospital nurses' home.

Miss Margaret Lee Lynch and Mrs. Mary Bartlett were named delegates to the convention which will be held in Baltimore October 18, 19 and 20. Miss Dauphin will accompany them as district president. Miss Dallas Nolan was named to the board of directors.

Announcement of a Red Cross nursing seminar was made by Miss Christine Williams. It will be held October 25 at the Ali Ghan Country Club. Mrs. Harriett Boore reported on $700 collected for the American Nurses Foundation. Routine business and the cancer seminar November 8 also were discussed. The next district meeting will be held in November at Sacred Heart nurses' home, the date to be selected.

A hat workshop preceded the meeting, which opened with the group singing "America" and "Onward Christian Soldiers," with Mrs. Adam Frost at the piano. Mrs. Glen Diehl presided. Roll call was answered with favorite dishes for a crowd. Mrs. Mary Schultz read a poem, "Just for Today." Mrs. Virginia Rodgers discussed projects and made suggestions for the coming year.

Reports on adult camp were given by Mrs. John Lear and Mrs. Harry Brotemarkle. They also showed Christmas decorations, hand-painted aprons, wastepaper cans, bracelets and decorated note paper they had made. Mrs. Ruth Jewell and Mrs. Frank White told of their week at College Park, where their topics were nutrition, music and family life. They both received their eight-year pins.

A thank-you note was read by Mrs. Betty Smith from Theresa Vincent, whom the club sponsored at 4-H camp. Mrs. Florine Taylor and Mrs. Lela Wakeman, who is to become a member, were guests. Thirty-four members were present.

Rev. Rein Discusses Church For New Times

"Change is inherent in the development of the church as in any other phase of life," Rev. Charles Rein, Pittsburgh, told members of the Mountain Conference of United Lutheran Church Women. He said that both dedication and imagination are needed to keep pace in discussing "Churches for New Times."

The first of the fall series of mission programs was held Monday at St. Paul's Frostburg. The invocation was given by Rev. Kenneth Morelock and greetings were extended by Mrs. W. Fred Mowen. Mrs. Thomas Blair was vocalist, with Mrs. George Charles at the piano. Prayer was offered by Mrs. Maurice Nelson. Mrs. Allen Hager presided.

State Group Convention Will Plan

Mrs. Virginia Nave, new liaison officer, and Mrs. Alberta Lindner, members of the Allegany County Unit of Hairdressers and Cosmetologists, will attend the state meeting in Hagerstown Sunday.

It will be held at the Tortuga Restaurant, with a luncheon at 1 o'clock. Plans are to be outlined for the state convention, which is to be held in Baltimore November 11 and 12. There also will be reports of the national convention, which was held in Miami, Fla., in July.

The program will consist of a showing of the new fall trend.

Any member of the local unit interested in attending is to call Mrs. Lindner, PA 4-5580, before 4 p. m. tomorrow.

Rainbow Girls Have Installation

Sue Ellen Wagner was installed as worthy advisor of Cumberland Assembly, Order of Rainbow for Girls, at a public ceremony recently. Others inducted are Deborah Boden, worthy associate advisor; Margaret Filler, charity; Dorothy Grim, hope; Teryl Chaney, faith; Pamela Angle, chaplain; Gayle Proudfoot, drill leader; Joy Carnell, love; Janis Shobe, religion; Paula Angle, nature; Charlene Nield, immortality; Marsha Purucker, fidelity; Linda Holtzman, patriotism; Lois Shipway, service; Jane Stallings, Sharon Shanholtz, observers; Katherine Mahaney, musician; Victoria Barnes, choir director; Jonelle Miller, official substitute; Betty Twigg and Barbara Stewart, hostesses.

The installing officer was Joseph H. Wagner, past patron of McKinley Chapter, OES. Rev. Louis Emerick was soloist. Visiting officers were introduced. A program was presented honoring Pamela Angle, who received a Bible and past worthy advisor pin. Awards were presented to Linda Holtzman, Audrey Sharp, Susan Wadsworth, Nancy Reed and Charlene Nield, by Mrs. Jessie McElfish.

Retreat To Be Held

This year, the annual retreat sponsored by Court Cardinal Gibbons 529, CDA, will be for men and women. It is to be conducted by Rev. Aloysius Burggraff, Baltimore, tomorrow and Sunday in St. Patrick's Church.

Rev. Burggraff is head of the Catholic Information Center in Baltimore. His subject is "Religious Unity." Mrs. Rosalie Everstine is general chairman. It will start Saturday at 1 p. m. and Sunday at 11 a. m., closing with Holy Hour at 3.

The regular meeting of the court will be held Monday at 8 at the Social Center.

Plan Entertainment

Mrs. Mildred Reiber and Mrs. Elizabeth Nave were appointed cochairmen of entertainment for the visit of Mrs. Lillian Wimping, Baltimore, to the VFW Auxiliary October 8. The department president will be accompanied by several members of her staff.

Mrs. Goldie Martin presided at the meeting and welcomed Mrs. Rosalie Sites as a member. Reports were given and the prize for the evening, won by Miss Hazel Dentinger.

Welfare Group Outlines Programs, Plans Party

Plans for programs, a card party and visits to the county institutions were formulated at the meeting of the welfare group of the Woman's Civic Club, conducted by Mrs. John Ort Wednesday at the club house.

Treats will be taken to the patients at the County Home, Infirmary and Sylvan Retreat, October 9. A dessert card party will be held in March.

The welfare group will be in charge of the program for the general meeting of the Woman's Civic Club November 16. At that time, Rev. Robert Current, Frostburg, chairman of the aging commission will speak on the problems of the aged. A tea will follow.

Plans for a Christmas party for the patients at the three county institutions will be formulated at the next group meeting, November 22. Also at that time Mrs. Jean Cioni will show a movie and talk on cancer.

Smorgasbord Tonight

A public smorgasbord dinner will be held at the Masonic Temple tonight from 6 until 7. It will be in the assembly hall. Tickets may be purchased at the door.

A program, "Yesterdays," will be given by the officers of McKinley Chapter, OES, honoring the Past Matrons and Past Patrons Association of Western Maryland, at 8 o'clock. A social will follow the meeting.

Class To Assist Student

The Adelphia Bible Class of First Christian Church voted to assist financially a junior at Johnson Bible College of Tennessee. The class also planned a trip to Somerset Christian Home early in October, to sell Christmas cards, and prepare Thanksgiving and Christmas baskets. The Youth Group has taken over the usual congregation Halloween party. Mrs. Cecelia Bennett presided. Mrs. Charles Dickerson was received as a member. Routine reports were given by Mrs. Thelma Brill and Mrs. Lillian Frankhouser. Edward Walker had devotions and Rev. Ralph Burnett offered prayer. Reports were given by Mrs. Thelma Brill and Mrs. Lillian Frankhouser.

The Ford in your future is here today!

Starting today at your Ford Dealer's, you will discover a line of Fords so long, so new, so varied that everyone will find his personal Ford—the car that fits his pleasure and his needs as precisely as though it had been made to measure. ■ For those who want the elegance, ride and roominess of a true luxury car, there are two distinguished new series of Galaxies—both swift as a rumor, silent as a secret. With Thunderbird styling, Thunderbird power, and quality that sets a new industry standard, the 1962 Galaxies give you every essential feature of far costlier fine cars. ■ If you are looking for economy without compromise, look to America's favorite compact: this year there are more Falcons than ever to choose from—13 in all.

■ Wagon fanciers will find unprecedented variety—from a new wagon that seats eight to a Falcon Squire Wagon with the rich woodlike finish of the famous Country Squire. ■ Pick the Ford in your future with this confidence: every 1962 Ford is built to a standard of quality so high that it will change all your ideas of how fine, how quiet, how enduring a car can be.

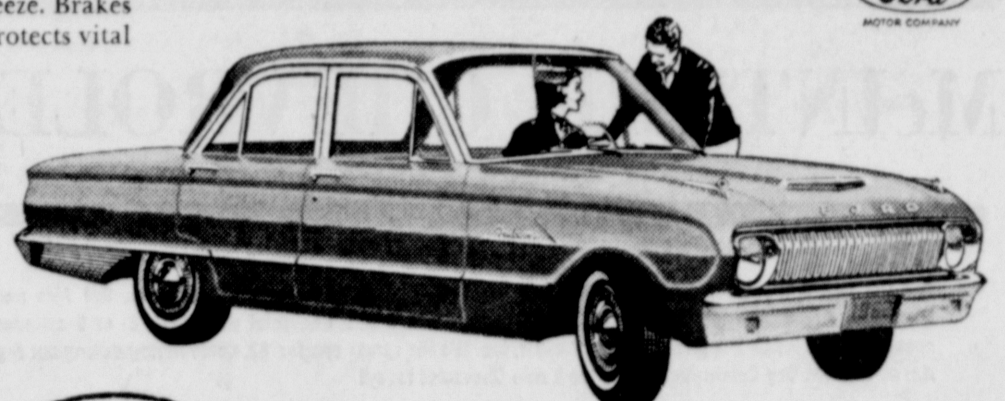

GALAXIE / 500 CLUB VICTORIA (foreground) . . . GALAXIE TOWN SEDAN (background) . . . The Galaxie / 500—new in name, new in luxury—is for those who want all of the elegant extras. The 1962 Galaxie makes it easier than ever to move up to fine-car luxury—at the low Ford price. All Galaxies are beautifully built to be more service-free. They go 30,000 miles between major lubrications, 6,000 miles between oil changes and minor lubrications, two years or 30,000 miles without changing engine coolant-antifreeze. Brakes adjust themselves automatically. Special zinc coating protects vital body parts against rust and corrosion.

FALCON SQUIRE WAGON

Brand new for '62, it's sleek, sophisticated . . . and the only compact wagon of its kind. Inside, it is available with Futura bucket seats and a handy console! Outside, it has steel side paneling with elegant woodlike finish.

FALCON FORDOR SEDAN

Just one of 13 Falcons for 1962, this 4-door sedan has an improved version of the Falcon Six engine that last spring recorded the best gas mileage for a Six or Eight in the 25-year history of the Mobilgas Economy Run. And Falcon's low price for '62 makes it still America's best compact value!

Wall Street Views

By JACK LEFLER
AP Business News Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—Wall Street analysts are trying to correlate the investors' state of mind with the recent stock market slump.

Some of the experts find the public upset, discouraged and short on confidence.

For that reason, they say, selling predominates over buying, driving prices down.

"We may face a period of irregularity and further selectivity as discouraged stockholders take tax losses," comments the brokerage house, Goodbody & Co.

However, it adds, if investors are correct in their appraisal of the prospects for settlement of the present crisis without war, it is most probable that the uptrend, supported by rising business and earnings, will eventually be resumed.

"Buying power has gone out of the market," says Josephthal & Co. "In a sense a tug-of-war is taking place between the bright business outlook and the loss of speculative and investor confidence."

"As yet there is no sign of a turn for the better, and the danger of a 'washout' remains. There is a new mood which is partly evidenced by the fact that inflationary wage settlements haven't encouraged either inventory accumulation by industry or an inflationary psychosis in the market."

Hayden, Stone & Co. concludes that investor psychology has been upset because while the economy is still operating against a creeping inflationary background, this is being overshadowed by uncertainties about steel price increases and pessimistic international news.

Begging was so rampant in Paris in the 1650s that some forty thousand professional beggars "worked" its streets daily.

'Bible Belt' Now Covers Entire USA

By CLARIE COX

ORLANDO, Fla. (UPI)—There is no "Bible Belt" any more.

People who live astride the Mason-Dixon line still read the Bible as assiduously as ever, but if there is a "Bible Belt" in the United States, it covers the entire country, according to Bible salesman John L. Russell.

As president of Advance Distributors, Inc., the world's largest direct-selling Bible company, Russell has a pretty fair notion of where the Bible buyers are.

"We have broken all the traditional Bible Belt idea," he said in an interview. "We sell more Bibles in untraditional territory than traditional. The Bible Belt no longer really exists. We sell mostly in California, Chicago and New England."

Russell, 40, heads a company he founded only eight years ago with a small staff and no salesmen. He went out and traveled the country selling Bibles and "selling" people on the idea of joining his company. Now he has a sales force of 2,500 men and women and an annual gross business of about $7 million.

Family Bibles are the specialty of Russell's company and they are a considerably streamlined version of the cumbersome volumes that used to grace parlor tables in the days when they were sold by dealers who traveled the countryside by horse and cart.

Russell has not yet started distributing the new Revised Standard Version of the Bible, although one of his King James versions contains some of the modern translations of individual words from the RSV along with the Elizabethan terminology of the KJV.

"The public still wants the King James version from us," he said. "Eventually they will choose a new version and we will give them what they want."

"Today, the family Bible has something for everyone."

Methodist Chaplain Is Called To Army

WHEELING, W. Va. (UPI)—The district superintendent of Methodist Churches in the Northern Panhandle is among the National Guard members being called to active duty Oct. 15 with West Virginia's 150th Armored Cavalry Regiment.

The Rev. Talmage Mallory of Wheeling has held the district post for two years since being transferred here from St. Albans. The district includes 40 churches in a five-county area.

Mallory, a chaplain, holds the rank of major. He served five years with the infantry in the Pacific theater during World War II and will complete 20 years of active and reserve service next February.

Science At Work

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Hot dust in the sea, the whole tooth and nothing but the tooth, and an antique zoo in African rock are subjects for science at work.

Fallout

The dusty, radioactive debris of atomic tests falls to sea at a much higher rate than it falls to land.

So report oceanographers in "Oceanus," a journal of the Woods Hole Oceanographic Institute. They found that a column of ocean water contains more strontium 90 than does a comparable land surface at the same latitude.

The findings have been confirmed by U.S. Weather Bureau experts who found higher fallout on coasts than at inland areas, and even higher fallout for islands. So far there is no full explanation of this phenomenon.

Whole Tooth

Saliva can actually pass into the inner pulp of the tooth, say Emory University researchers.

In fact, saliva may help prevent cavities. It appears to do so in laboratory animals anyway.

Dr. John Haldi reports that the saliva has an alkalyzing or buffering effect, which helps neutralize the acids from foods. It also apparently has a cleansing ability, and may even help remineralize the tooth.

Rock

In some 10,000 feet of South African rock some 200 million years old, is probably the world's strangest zoo. In fossils is a succession of early animal life from cold-blooded reptiles to warm-blooded animals.

Dr. Nicholas Hotton III, a geologist for the Smithsonian Institution, found some 200 specimens—remains of both plant and flesh eating animals.

Some were as small as a mouse some as big as a bison. Plant eaters were generally the largest, with huge triangular heads, and beaked, turtle-like jaws, and bulky bodies. Meat eaters were marked by the development of enormous teeth.

Air Raid Shelter's Worth Discounted

LONDON (AP)—An air raid shelter is not going to be of the slightest use in the next war, Defense Minister Harold Watkinson said Wednesday.

"In certain key points it might enable life to go on a little longer, but to have one in your back garden is not going to do much good."

Watkinson told one questioner in an audience of City of London Young Conservatives that modern weapons could wipe out civilization.

The game of hurling is most popular in Ireland.

Can Physicians Cure Their Own Ailing 'Image'?

EDITOR'S NOTE — Few sciences have made greater strides in recent decades than medicine. Yet some of its very triumphs have generated new problems, and some doctors believe their public image is ailing. Their prescription: More emphasis on the human equation.

By JOHN BARBOUR

Associated Press Science Writer

CHICAGO (AP) — Today in America there is a curious medical contrast: The patient seems fine. But the doctor is uneasy. For, although U.S. medical care is perhaps the world's finest, many U.S. doctors are worried: Worried that their public image is slipping.

Worried that older people with growing medical needs but a lessened ability to pay may turn to government for help.

Worried that this foot on the door may permit government to oversee all medical care.

Worried about dissatisfied patients, and where their dissatisfaction stems from.

And finally, worried about the need to remember the human being in the specialized, drug-filled, expensive, automated and impersonal house that medical progress has built. It's been called an era of supermarket medicine.

Public opinion polls, letters from patients unhappy with their medical care or cost of it, attempts by Congress to tie phases of medical care to Social Security, all seem to bear the same message.

It is of concern to many individual doctors, and it is of concern to the American Medical Association which represents some 185,000 of the 250,000 doctors in the United States.

In a never-before published study in 1959, the AMA was told by pollsters it hired: Build up the standing of the profession as a whole.

"This is not an easy task because many people (32 per cent) have had an experience with a physician that was so unsatisfactory that they would not go back to him."

And a special committee of the AMA reported this year: "Today it would appear that the public is looking with an increasingly critical eye at failings and delinquencies of the physician. Irrespective of the cause for this situation, the demands of the public must be viewed realistically and met honestly."

In a recent editorial to doctors, the New York State Journal of Medicine, citing an informal poll, took note of complaints of high costs and a lack of warm understanding from doctors. It added: "There was much praise too for skill and competence. The people like and admire what we do, but they are less than enthusiastic about how we do it. . . we will look better when we are better."

Tighten up on extravagances in hospitalization and drug prescribing, pay closer attention to patients and take a human approach to their problems, it advised doctors.

These things, it said, "would please our patients and might not do us a bit of harm as we face into the winds of change."

The late Dr. Francis Peabody of Harvard used to tell his medical students years ago "the secret of the care of the patient is in caring for the patient."

Now some doctors are wondering what happened to Dr. Peabody's humanistic concept of doctor and patient.

"The secret which many practicing physicians do not know is the powerful therapeutic influence they exert in the lives of their patients," explains Dr. Leo H. Bartemeier, Baltimore psychiatrist and head of the AMA's Council on Mental Health.

"They are so frequently blind to the intense feelings their patients have for them and the way in which these feelings dissolve so many of their symptoms."

"I strongly suspect that these feelings of trust, love and devotion are often far more responsible for the success of the treatment than the prescriptions, the injections and the other forms of treatment they administer."

For some years, especially since the end of World War II, there have been repeated plans before Congress to bring government into the medical care picture.

To fend off such plans, the AMA set up a lobby in Washington. Today, of a general Washington staff of 25, there are four registered lobbyists: A doctor, a doctor, a lawyer and two newspapermen.

If the AMA's voice in Washington seems strong and unified, elsewhere the group seems to speak with a thousand tongues. It is in reality a loose confederation of some 2,000 local and state societies, often reflecting the various degrees of liberalism and conservatism of various parts of the country.

GOOD CITIZENS—Century-old John Collins and his 108-year-old wife, Elizabeth, pose happily at their home in Tallapoosa, Ga., yesterday as they look forward to a ceremony which will honor them as good citizens. The aged Negro couple, born into slavery, married 80 years ago. Town officials say the Collinses have been good citizens all their lives. (AP Photofax)

Tax Hearings Set

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—The State Board of Public Works Wednesday the only firms to in-will make final 1962-63 property tax assessments for West Virginia public utilities next Monday. A board spokesman said Wednesday the only firms to in-dicade so far that they will appear to seek reductions of tentative figures are Appalachian Power Co., Wheeling Electric Co., West Virginia Water Co. and Campbell's Creek Railroad.

Model Of Ion Engine Put Through Paces

MALIBU, Calif. (AP)—The first public demonstration of an ion engine, a tiny device expected to have a major role in future space travel, was held Wednesday.

Scientists at Hughes Aircraft Co.'s research laboratory put through its paces a small model generating less than a pound of thrust.

They called it the ultimate device in space propulsion, one that some day could send space craft hurtling at two million miles per day.

The small experimental device demonstrated, so light it is portable, consisted of a doughnut-like outer ring with an inner core and studded with various gadgets.

It is totally unlike conventional rockets being fired into space today. They burn fuel, generating tremendous thrust to lift heavy loads. But they exhaust their fuel rapidly and have to coast through upper stages of rockets launched by conventional engines.

Scientists said a nuclear reactor would be the best power source.

The Constitutional Congress consisted of about 55 members sitting in Philadelphia. All states except Rhode Island responded to the call.

TODAY A New World of Worth from Chevrolet for '62!

'62 Impala Sport Coupe—with a roof line that looks like a convertible's

'62 CHEVROLET

Rich new styling with Jet-smooth ride!

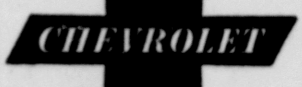

Here's everything a car fancier could want. Fresh-minted style that comes to a climax in the sportiest sport coupe you've seen yet.

A road-gentling Jet-smooth ride. A new choice of V8 skedaddle.

Rich Body by Fisher interiors. Beauty that's specially built to stay beautiful. Here in '62 is more than ever to please you from the make that pleases most people.

If you've wondered what owning an expensive car is like, here's where you find out—without the expense. Check it over from its clean-thrusting prow to its rakish rear deck. Look inside the deep-well trunk. Step through one of those wide-opening doors and plump down on a seat the size of a sofa. Then—head for the open highway. ■ That sittin'-on-satin feeling you get is Chevrolet's famous Jet-smooth ride at work—with a plant Full Coil spring cushioning at each wheel. The standard six and V8 are triggered to do special things on regular gas, and for real hair-trigger reflexes you have a choice of four optional-at-extra-cost V8's with output all the way up to 409 hp. ■ Hard-working helpers (like the new steel front fender underskirts that guard against corrosion) give this '62 its built-for-keeps beauty. Even the heater and defroster come as standard equipment this year. This is the kind of car that will make you feel luxurious all over, and your Chevrolet dealer will be only too happy to show you how easy it is to have one of your own.

Corvair Monza Club Coupe

THE '62 CORVAIR MONZA

The car that puts sport in the driver's seat!

Step right up and meet the latest version of the car that's proved its mettle in the fiercest competition going—'62 Corvair. Bigger new brakes team up with Corvair's renowned rear-engine traction for just about the surest footed going on the road. A new Monza Station Wagon makes its debut. And all models sport freshly tailored upholstery inside matched by sassy new styling accents outside.

This jim-dandy's got the stuff that drivers dote on. ■ Backstage you have a standard aluminum air-cooled engine that turns up 80 hp. (or if you like more razzamatazz, one that uncorks 102 hp.). You can pick from a 3-speed Synchromesh transmission, a 4-speeder or Corvair Powerglide. ■ Sure enough, there's independent suspension on all four wheels to keep the ride as amiable as ever. Inside, you'll find a heater and defroster, cigarette lighter, dual sunshades, front-door armrests and automatic choke as standard equipment on the 500 Coupe, 700 Coupe and Sedan, Monza Coupe and Sedan, Monza and 700 Station Wagons. ■ There are lots of reasons for liking what's new—and tried and true—in the '62 Corvair. And your dealer's eager to tick 'em off for you.

*Optional at extra cost.

HERE'S THE NEW CHEVY II

Modern basic transportation in a totally new line of cars

Here are all solid, time-tested virtues you know you can count on from all the Chevrolet family—plus some surprises you've never seen on any car before. A full line of saucy new-size models, each built a new way for easier service and maintenance. Thrifty? Choice of a frugal 4- or spunky 6-cylinder engine (in most models). Roomy? Sedans seat six solid citizens, bag and baggage. Price? A real pleasant surprise!

This plucky new Chevy II comes about as close as a car can to perpetual motion. Beneath that fetching, fresh-shaped bonnet you'll find the kind of long-lived dependability that has always been Chevrolet's special stock in trade. ■ All nine models (station wagons, a hardtop, even a convertible will soon be available in the lineup) are designed to save you money and service. Major front-end sections, including fenders, bolt on for easy replacement in case of damage. More savings: The heater and defroster are yours as standard equipment. Tough—but ever-so-gentle—Mono-Plate rear springs flex as a single unit, eliminating the friction of old-fashioned multi-leaf springs. ■ And, maneuverable and sensibly sized as this Chevy II is, it gives you the kind of passenger and packing room that'll make many a "big" car wonder how it's done.

Faculty Changes Made In Schools

A two-per cent increase in Al-ers, one of which was the principal, could not justify a replacement in school. However, he pointed out, when changes in faculties, Ralph R. classes started, the number of pupils in the elementary school justified the addition of a principal, announced yesterday.

Raymond Ralston, Lonaconing, Pa., who was transferred from Park- side School this summer to be- come coordinator in charge of elementary grades at Mt. Savage School, was promoted to principal at Ellerslie School.

This position became vacant when the principal, Miss Mary Elizabeth Straw, was named principal at Mt. Savage School.

Webster said the June registra- tion reports indicated that Ellers- lie, which only had three teach-

William Grove. A drop in enrollment at Flintstone brought out this move, Webster pointed out.

Due to fewer students at East Side School, Miss Dorothy Stern was transferred to Parkside School where the building boom in LaVale has caused increased enrollment.

Another teacher was added to the staff of Central Elementary School in Lonaconing. There, too, the June registration figures did not indicate that an additional teacher would be needed this fall.

Webster said Mrs. Eunice Mofatt Junkins, who was on the faculty before taking a leave of absence, was given the assignment.

Another instructor was named to the faculty of Eckhart School, where increased enrollment was experienced. She is Mrs. June Blair Kroll.

Outside of those changes, the public school system has been running smoothly since the start of classes, Webster observed.

Last year at this time, enrollment in the schools totalled approximately 16,000. This year, it is 16,300, he pointed out, about a two per cent increase.

Enrolled In College

Carole Ann Hartman, 900 Yale Street, has enrolled at Columbia Union College, Takoma Park, as a freshman. She is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Hartman and is majoring in music.

MRS. E. D. PATTERSON

Becomes Nurse At Baltimore

A former resident of Cum- berland has passed her state board examinations to become a regis- tered nurse at the age of 53 years.

She is Mrs. Elizabeth Durant Patterson, 7347 Waldman Park Road, Baltimore, who recently graduated from Franklin Square Hospital School of Nursing, Balti- more.

Mrs. Patterson, the former Miss Elizabeth Bageant, decided to study to become a practical nurse after the death of her first hus- band in 1952.

She served in that capacity for three years before being selected by the Baltimore hospital to study for registered status because of her professional ability.

A 1926 graduate of Allegany High School, she is a sister of Mrs. William M. Ritchey, 849 Mt. Royal Avenue.

CD Officials From Area At State Meeting

The Allegany County Civil Defense Organization, Cumberland and the Board of Allegany County Commissioners are represented at a statewide CD conference called in Annapolis yesterday by Governor Millard J. Tawes.

Attending were William G. Barger, director of the county CD unit; Charles G. Smith, deputy CD director; Mayor J. Edwin Kerch of Cumberland and County Commissioner John T. Mason.

Gov. Tawes recommended the appointment of neighborhood CD officers and the giving of survival instructions in schools as a means of preparing Maryland for possible nuclear attack.

He also urged inventory of potential public shelters throughout the state and encouragement of long term loans to encourage home owners to build private fallout shelters.

"I requested that you come to Annapolis for the meeting because I am deeply concerned with the condition of our Civil Defense program," the governor said.

"I think we ought to recognize that, at this moment, our state and our nation are woefully unprepared to face a nuclear attack," he added.

However, he said, the public now showing a growing anxiety about lack of preparedness in the face of mounting Soviet threats, will respond to information and guidance if leaders provide such.

The governor suggested appointment of neighborhood Civil Defense officers throughout the state, each responsible for from 50 to 100 families in a particular area. The officers would function as liaison between local Civil Defense headquarters and the families living in their sector.

As another step, the governor recommended that a course on Civil Defense procedures be given in public and private junior and senior high schools.

Tawes asked the conference to develop a statewide plan of action. He said he would back up recommendations for any necessary legislation.

Ann Landers . . .

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My fiancé gave me what he said was a mink cape for my birthday. I got caught in the rain with it and it sure didn't act like mink. I think he got rabbit.

I showed him how it matted up and smelled sort of peculiar. Then he admitted that he bought the cape from a man who came by the office building and said he needed some money in a hurry.

Now that I know the circumstances I'm sure he got taken for a ride. Of course he has no idea of how to get in touch with the man who sold him the cape. What can he do?—GYPPED

DEAR GYPPED: He can kick himself for being such a yokel. People who know nothing about fur should know a furrier. It's only common sense to buy from an established firm, a firm which, in accordance with the fur-labeling act, states on the ticket the name of the animal that gave his life for m'lady.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I used to think you made up the letters but after what happened to me I'd believe anything.

My wife and I were married seven years. I thought we were happy. Last month she asked for a divorce. I almost had a heart attack. She told me she wanted to marry an old flame. He turned up five months ago and they took up where they left off in college.

She filed for divorce and we agreed to live in the same house until the decree was final for financial reasons. She cooks, cleans, does the laundry — and goes out with him four nights a week.

I knew there was something phony about this jerk but exactly what I couldn't say. If he was so nuts about my wife, what was he doing the other three nights? So I tailed him. Sure enough, he was meeting another woman. I told my wife but she wouldn't believe me. So the next night I took her along.

Now she has called off the divorce and swears she'll be true to me as long as she lives. Should I give her another chance?—OLD SHERLOCK

DEAR SHERLOCK: After an experience like this I'm willing to bet she'll be a first-rate wife. Give her a chance to prove she means what she says.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I'm going with a girl who is very intelligent and has a lot of character. The one thing that bothers me about her is that she gets herself up in sort of an off-beat way and sometimes I think she goes too far.

She has removed her natural eyebrows and paints on artificial ones about an inch higher than where they would be if she left them alone. As a result, she always looks surprised.

Do you think I should say something to her? Or does this come under the heading of "None Of My Business?"—VERY INTERESTED

DEAR VERY INTERESTED: Your signature indicates that it is your business. Be tactful and tell her you think her own eyebrows would look better than Woolworth's and ask her if she'll give them another chance.

CONFIDENTIAL TO YOUNG AT HEART: It sounds as if this Mata Hari in ankle socks is steaming up your glasses, Dad. Why don't you pick on someone your own age

'Growthmanship' Important Part Of Cold War

WASHINGTON (UPI)—"Growthmanship" is a tricky and important part of the Cold War.

It is a propaganda game played with numbers. Its object is to show a superior economy.

The Russians boast their economy is superior because it is growing faster than that of the United States. But they admit that, at present, the U.S. economy produces more.

American economists say it is difficult to draw any reliable conclusions from the economic data published by the Soviet Union. The Russians are sparing in their explanation of their statistics—how they are compiled, what they include, what is adjusted, what is guesswork.

Despite known instances of outright falsification of Soviet farm statistics—a practice which recently incurred the public wrath of Premier Khrushchev—U.S. experts feel there is more confusion than deliberate dishonesty in the Soviet numbers game.

"Except for agriculture, they've been accurate," commented one U.S. government economist. "The trouble is they're not overly generous in telling you how it's calculated."

For example, the Soviet definition of meat is broader than the U.S. definition. Aggregate Soviet figures on meat production include deer, reindeer, buffalo, rabbit and other game animals which are more commonly eaten in the Soviet Union than in this country.

Also included are waste portions—such as fat and intestines, which are not part of U.S. figures. Thus direct comparisons of meat output figures are meaningless.

The Soviet Union has claimed higher milk production than the United States. But Department of Agriculture experts report that the Russians are counting milk suckled by calves in their dairy output figures. Soviet output is 90 per cent of the U.S. figure if that factor is omitted.

Another problem stems from Soviet use of "biological yields"—the amount of grain or corn standing in the field rather than the amount harvested.

Pressures to meet production standards, and to show continuing growth, have led to some oddities in Soviet industrial statistics. Soviet affairs experts tell of the manager of a nail factory who showed considerable sensitivity to pleasing higher authority. When his production goals were set in metric tons, his factory turned out thick, heavy nails. When the planning authority switched the goal to units, the manager switched to thin, lightweight nails.

Despite the possibility that Soviet output figures are exaggerated either by use of unusual definitions or deliberate prodding by goal-conscious managers—experts in this country have no doubt that the Soviet economy has been growing faster in recent years than the far larger U.S. economy.

The best intelligence estimates available here are that the Soviet economy has expanded by more than 6 per cent a year for the past five years. A decade ago it was 35 to 40 per cent the size of the U.S. economy. Now it is nearly half as big—and the American economy has grown considerably in the meantime.

There has been much talk that economy overall will be able to sustain a 6 per cent growth rate through 1965, at least.

That would be nearly twice the recent U.S. growth rate and one-third above the 4½ per cent target President Kennedy has set for the United States.

ADVANCED THRUST

Moves power forward for arrow-straight going

It puts the engine ahead like the tip of an arrow • It tames "wind wander" and road sway • It sweeps you forward in a hush of luxury • It turns the floor hump into foot space.

WHAT IT IS—Buick's big new move: It positions the great new Wildcat V-8 and Turbine Drive way up front over Buick's front wheels.

WHAT IT DOES—As the engine went forward, the floor hump went DOWN. And, the forward weight makes wheel response far quicker, cornering far surer, ride far smoother.

Priest's Body Found In Automobile Trunk
COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (UPI) — The body of an elderly Colorado Springs priest was found near Walden, Colo., Thursday, crammed in the trunk of his car with a belt looped around his neck.

Police here said a tall, rangy parolee from the state reformatory at Buena Vista, Colo., who was being held for possible parole violation, was being questioned as a suspect in the case. El Paso County Sheriff Earl Sullivan said "it looks like murder."

The Roman Catholic priest, the Rev. John DeGarmath, 72, who had retired from active parish assignment, disappeared Sept. 20.

Texans Begin To Pay First Sales Tax

By PAT CONWAY
AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI)—On Sept. 1, Texans started digging into their pockets for pennies to pay the first general sales tax in the state's history.

Texas became the 36th state to adopt a sales tax despite bitter opposition by the governor, and the campaign pledges of many lawmakers and the lieutenant governor to fight the tax.

Gov. Price Daniel let the 2 percent levy on most items costing more than a quarter become law without his signature.

Texas had to have a broad-based tax program. The state general fund was $64 million in the red and lawmakers passed a record $2.59 billion state budget.

The sales tax, estimated to raise $316 million during the next biennium, would exempt groceries, drugs, work clothing costing less than $10, farm necessities and items such as alcoholic beverages and cigarettes, which already carry high selective sales taxes.

Its passage came minutes before the end of a first special session of the legislature, ending 170 days of tax feuding. A similar sales tax was killed in the regular session of the 57th legislature.

The two legislative sessions were frustrating for Daniel. The governor told lawmakers he wanted an escheat enforcement act to let the state claim abandoned accounts and property held by banks, insurance firms and pipeline companies and a tax aimed at gas pipelines.

He got the escheat act without the banks, and a gas pipeline tax without the pipelines. Both measures were amended to make them practically ineffective.

The corporate lobby was gleeful over the sales tax. Business and industry told lawmakers that any additional taxes on them would drive existing companies from the state and discourage new ones from entering.

Tom Sealy, head of the corporate-financed "Citizens for a Sales Tax," stood in the capitol the night the sales tax passed and cried "peace" to passers-by.

Emasculation of the pipeline tax was a bitter blow to liberal members of the all-Democrat legislature. They argued that small independent gas producers and royalty owners pay a substantial production tax while the major pipelines pay no state taxes.

However, lawmakers were afraid the levy would be unconstitutional, as were two previous attempts to tax pipelines.

Besides the corporate pressure, legislators faced other demands for a sales tax. Teachers and state employees wanted their pay raised and the aged wanted a medical care plan.

MRS. RALPH JOHNSON
TUNNELTON, W. Va. — Mrs. Clara Johnson, 41, wife of Ralph Johnson, of RD 4, died September 23 in Preston County Memorial Hospital.

A daughter of Frank and Lillie Nair, she was born July 7, 1920.

In addition to her husband and parents, she is survived by seven daughters, Sheila and Sharon Johnson, at home; Mrs. Marie Huntsberry, Mrs. Mary Jane Fitz, Mrs. Patsy Moore and Miss Donna Jean Barnhart, all of Hagerstown, Md., and Miss Linda Barnhart, Crellin, Md.; two sons, Michael Johnson, at home, and Raymond Barnhart, Hagerstown; three sisters, Mrs. Dorothy Herschman and Mrs. Mary Kipper, Oakland, Md., and Mrs. Betty Stewart, Cumberland; three brothers, Harold and William Nair, both of Cumberland, and Robert Nair, Crellin, Md., and 11 grandchildren.

Services were held Tuesday at Kingwood, and interment was in Maplewood Cemetery there.

Stand Tall! Good Advice At Any Age

Do you stand as tall as you can? You should, whether or not you're model tall.

Exercises can teach your body to extend itself naturally, so that standing tall is easy. The first one you should adopt loosens tight spots in your spinal column. Begin it by standing on tiptoe with your feet together. Raise both arms over your head. Now, start to stretch, from the base of your spine upward. Pull your waist out of your hips, your neck out of your shoulders, your hands out of your wrists. Reach for the ceiling. Then, walk slowly around the room, stretching every step of the way, for a count of ten. Finally, and very slowly, return your arms and feet to a normal position, but don't lose the stretch in your spine. Repeat at various times during the day to total to ten times.

City Issues 16 Building Permits

The city building engineer issued 16 permits this month with a total estimated value of $85,150. Included were 12 for new construction and four for additions and improvements.

The number compares with 18 issued in August and estimated to cost $99,700.

For the nine months this year, the total building permit valuation is $1,040,244 compared to $2,332,705 for the same period a year ago.

A permit was granted today to James M. Monahan to erect a dwelling at 1007-1009 Lafayette Avenue. The structure will be 45 by 25 feet, one story and of concrete block and brick with combination shingle roof.

City Featured In Magazine

Cumberland, which will be host to the annual convention of the Maryland Municipal League October 26-28, is featured in this issue of the Maryland Municipal News. A letter of invitation to league members from Mayor J. Edwin Keech is reproduced in the magazine and more than two full pages are devoted to a description of the city, its history and attractions. Two aerial photos of the Celanese Fibers Company and Kelly-Springfield Tire Company accompany the article.

Mayor Keech is a vice president of the league which will have convention headquarters in the Fort Cumberland Hotel.

Insulation, Refractory Materials Meeting Set At ABL

Allegany Ballistics Laboratory will be host next week to a semi-annual symposium sponsored by the Special Projects Office of the Bureau of Naval Weapons.

Scheduled for Tuesday and Wednesday, ABL scientists said the program is directed toward development of insulation and refractory materials for the Polaris missile program.

Participating in the symposium will be representatives from contractors and government agencies performing basic and applied research in the insulation and refractory fields.

The program will feature talks by representatives of materials contractors who are developing new nozzle and insulation materials.

Reports on evaluation tests will be presented by ABL scientists, and officials of the Atlantic Research Corporation, Aerojet General, and the Naval Ordnance Laboratory.

Bowhunters To Meet

The Cumberland Bowhunters, local archery club, has scheduled a work party for Saturday at 8 a. m. at their range, located on Pine Ridge Road, to complete a target course which is due for inspection Sunday. All members are to assist.

Representatives of the Air Force and Army also will review their materials research and development programs.

Other organizations that will be represented at the symposium include:

Carborundum Company, Clevite Corporation, National Research Corporation, Raytheon Corporation, Stanford Research Institute, U. S. Rubber Company, National Bureau of Standards, National Bureau of Mines, General Electric, General Telephone.

High Temperature Materials Corporation, American Metal Products Company, Naval Research Laboratory, Ladish Corporation, Steel Improvement and

Man Given Prison Term In Slaying

BEDFORD — A Bedford County man has been sentenced to Western Pennsylvania Penitentiary on a charge of voluntary manslaughter resulting from the fatal wounding of his nephew on July 3.

Charles H. (Heeter) Allen Jr., 46, of RD 1, Bedford, was ordered imprisoned for not less than two years, and not more than five years. Sentence was pronounced by Judge Richard C. Snyder.

Allen had confessed to the slaying of his nephew, Kenneth Richard (Jack) Allen, 30, who died July 11 from an infection of his wound.

Judge Snyder ruled that Allen's sentence would be retroactive to July 3 since he had been held in jail since that time.

Allen had nothing to say when brought before the court for sentencing. His court-appointed counsel, Attorney Don C. Reiley, pointed out his service-connected partial disability, his previous bad personal relations with the victim and the victim's own previous threats and assaults on him. Reiley also declared the defendant has no previous record of serious offense, although he once was prosecuted and convicted here on a drunken driving charge.

District Attorney E. William VanHorn Jr. told the court "I feel it is in the best interests of justice" that Allen's plea to the voluntary manslaughter charge be accepted rather than prosecuting him for the more serious offenses of first or second-degree murder. The grand jury September 11 indicted him on a general charge of murder which includes all three degrees.

VanHorn also moved to drop a charge of assault with intent to kill lodged against Allen before the death of his nephew, and told Judge Snyder, "I believe this charge is merged into the present plea." Judge Snyder approved the action.

Judge Snyder told Allen after sentencing that "if you handle yourself properly, as I believe you will, you may be free within one year and a half." This was a reference to the chance that Allen could win parole in approximately 18 months for good behavior.

In addition to the prison term, Allen was fined $50 and costs.

Local Man Injured In Fall At Home

John D. Straw Sr., 1005 Harding Avenue, was admitted to Sacred Heart Hospital Wednesday night after he was injured in a fall at his home.

Mr. Straw sustained a severe laceration of his right arm when he fell while descending the cellar steps.

YMCA Adult Classes To Start Tonight

Over 40 persons are enrolled in the adult educational classes which will begin today at 7 p.m. at Central YMCA, according to Benjamin Haines, program director.

Mrs. Peggy Mackert will direct the American modern dance class and Mrs. Thelma Niland will instruct a class in beginning and advanced ceramics.

Appeal Heard

Tried To Stop
"You would have to see," Mr. Stewart told the referee in response to a query on how one could catch those causing the trouble. He said the union is aware that someone has been stopping the machines but doesn't know why.

Among claimants heard was Charles H. Brode, a member of the extrusion committee, who said the new assignment was put into effect in July with two changes made by the company and that it is to be arbitrated.

He said members of the union committee tried to stop the incidents, and related a suggestion he made to the company to prevent the throwing of switches by replacing doors with glass covers.

He said no member of the extrusion department has walked out or been on strike.

Different Unit
Mrs. Burch, coning department chairman, also testified, saying the coning operation is different work from spinning. She said members of that department have not condoned the machine stoppages, which she termed "absolutely out of line."

She said she did not think it was a "labor dispute" but a "labor disagreement" and said that if the union had seen anyone participating it would have done something about it.

In response to a query from Mr. Clark, Mr. Nix said the company has taken no action, except in the one case, against an employee.

Mr. Stewart said last night that all workers furloughed due to vacations, sick leave or related reasons should file for benefits as soon as possible.

Dividend Declared

The board of directors of Hercules Powder Company yesterday announced payment of a regular quarterly dividend of 1 1/4 per cent, equal to $1.25 per share, on its preferred stock, payable November 15 to stockholders of record October 26.

Handicapped Hiring Forum Conducted Here

Plans for expanding the employment of the handicapped were discussed here yesterday at a regional conference of the Governor's Committee to Promote the Employment of the Handicapped. Some 30 delegates from committees in Western Maryland attended the meeting held at the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company plant.

State Senator Charles M. See, Allegany County chairman, and John M. Coburn, councilor for the Division of Vocational Rehabilitation, opened the session.

Francis A. Kenney, manager of the local office of the Department of Employment Security, was moderator for a panel discussion on "Can employment of the handicapped in a free society be achieved by voluntary means?"

Speakers were Maurice D. Schepcaro, director of industrial relations for the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company here; Gerald Keefe, representing the Amcelle plant of Celanese Fibers Company; Kenneth Lowe, personnel supervisor for Allegany Ballistics Laboratory, and Arthur Howard, safety director for the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company, which was host to the conference.

Food Dealers Plan Dinner For October 18

The 17th annual dinner meeting of the Independent Retail Food Dealers Association of Western Maryland will be held at St. Mary's Hall on Oldtown Road at 7 p.m. Wednesday, October 18.

William G. Beier is president of the association which annually has its dinner meeting on the third Wednesday in October.

Details on the program are still being prepared. Those planning to attend were reminded that parking facilities at St. Mary's have been expanded since the meeting last fall.

Permits Issued For Two Dwellings

Building permits were issued yesterday by James G. Stevenson, clerk to the Allegany County Board of County Commissioners, for two new dwellings.

Mike Burgess Inc., 628 Washington Street, acquired a permit for a 24 by 44 foot brick house which will be built on Valley View Drive in Election District 29, LaVale. James W. Taschenberger, RFD 4, obtained the other permit for a brick and stone house, 44 by 28 feet in size, which he plans to build on a 1.66 acre tract along Oldtown Road in Election District 16.

Mahoney Asks 'Quickie' Report On Colleges

BALTIMORE (AP) — A commission studying the needs of higher education in Maryland has been urged by Democratic gubernatorial candidate George P. Mahoney to have an interim report ready for the 1962 General Assembly.

Mahoney said the need for increasing faculty salaries and making capital improvements at State teacher colleges was urgent and the General Assembly should act on these matters at its next session.

Mahoney noted that Gov. Tawes had appointed the study commission, headed by John N. Curlett, after the General Assembly refused to enact a bill to make Frostburg State Teachers College a branch of the University of Maryland.

Tawes is expected to seek reelection and oppose Mahoney for the Democratic nomination.

"What is particularly upsetting about the situation," Mahoney said, "is the fact that Gov. Tawes, after making the much-disputed Frostburg bill an emergency one — then wasted three long months before he got around to answering the legislature's request for a new study."

The Curlett Commission an-

Mines Termed Unsafe For Fallout Shelters

BECKLEY, W. Va. (UPI) — Abandoned coal mines would be unsafe for use as shelters from nuclear fallout, according to former West Virginia mines director Crawford L. Wilson.

Wilson said extensive work would be needed to make these mines safe, both from the standpoint of gases and possible fall-ins. Active mines could more readily be utilized as shelters but they too would have to be "conditioned," the Beckley coal executive said.

Wilson has been engaged in mine safety engineering since he left the state post earlier this year. Much of his recent work has been concerned with studies of possible use of mines and limestone caverns as fallout shelters.

Judge Harris Hears Evidence In Morals Case

The case against Robert Dale Bennett, 23, city, on a charge of statutory rape of a 13-year-old local girl was completed at noon yesterday but Chief Judge Morgan C. Harris withheld his decision.

At the outset of the case Judge Harris read a lengthy opinion, which he had prepared in anticipation that a motion to dismiss the proceedings would be made on the grounds of double jeopardy, quoting various legal rulings on the question.

Judge Harris ruled that in the instant case that there is no double jeopardy as the young man was found guilty of a misdemeanor in Juvenile Court. The case yesterday is a felony charge of statutory rape.

The court said that the charge which had been listed in the criminal information filed by the state's attorney's office should have been statutory rape and not the proceedings on the double jeopardy plea was ruled out by Judge Harris.

A guard brought Bennett here from the House of Correction, where he is serving a year for contributing to the delinquency of a minor. This sentence was handed down in Juvenile Court last February by Magistrate Louis A. Fatkin.

Congress A Mirror Of The Public

In dealing with President Kennedy's legislative program, Congress demonstrated anew a truism: that their elected representatives generally reflect the mood of the American people.

From President Kennedy down to the youngest voter, no one is entirely happy with the first session of the 87th Congress. But it seems incontrovertible that the results mirror all the determinations, frustrations, divisions, hopes and apprehensions found among the public. Things are usually like that at adjournment time.

The Congressional disagreement that doomed the general aid-to-education bill was an accurate representation of public opposition. The refusal of Congress to put the development loan program for other nations on a five-year basis reflects public disenchantment over the way such funds have been spent in the past.

Congressmen worried about federal spending—and there are many of them—would not so quickly agree to add $6 billion to defense expenditures unless the people demanded greater national security. Nor would Congress have so rapidly approved a start on the expensive man-to-the-moon program had not almost all Americans evidenced deep concern over the Soviet lead in space exploration.

Senators and Representatives are like the people who elect them. They work hard, make mistakes, sometimes lose their tempers, and pass some worthwhile legislation. That's about the way Congress was set up to operate.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

Lamont Is Worried

Corliss Lamont is the philosopher son of Thomas Lamont, erstwhile head of J. P. Morgan and Company, when that firm was the center of the American financial universe. Corliss moved to the Left and he now-days has a press agent who, from time to time, sends me releases about his client. Ordinarily, I do not quote them because I cannot understand why a philosopher needs a press agent.

In the most recent release, the press agent describes Corliss Lamont as author, teacher and Humanist philosopher, which is quite a bit to say about anyone. It must be admitted, however, that Fidel Castro got his early idea from something that Lamont wrote which makes this humanist philosopher very important politically. Whereas it has generally been held that Castro got his way of life from Karl Marx, it would seem that he actually got it from Corliss Lamont.

So it appears that Corliss Lamont attended the Seventh World Conference Against A and H Bombs in Tokyo and that a resolution was passed there which stated: "The first government to resume tests should be denounced as the enemy of peace and of mankind."

Eighteen days after this resolution was passed, Khrushchev commenced his long series of nuclear explosions, using the bombs as a weapon of coercion and intimidation. As President Kennedy said in his speech to the United Nations, terror is an old weapon.

This must have been very embarrassing to the delegates present at the convention, which included Chinese and Russian delegates. The press agent's release does not say what kind of Chinese he refers to. Were they Red or decent? It must be assumed that they were Red, as no Nationalist would willingly sit with a Communist.

At any rate, Corliss Lamont is quoted to have said of this:

"I am sure that the Soviet and Chinese delegates, as well as those from other Socialist countries, had no idea that the Soviet Union would be the first nation to resume nuclear tests. This leads me to think that this inexcusable Soviet action is opposed by large sections of the population within the Communist bloc and in Soviet Russia itself."

Oh dear! It must, indeed, be humiliating to those who have heretofore found excuses for whatever Soviet Russia did, that Khrushchev should have committed an inexcusable action. Of course, Lamont says that he is led to think that large sections of the Chinese and Soviet population are opposed to what Khrushchev is doing. It is truly unfortunate that President Kennedy did not first resume bomb testing; then it would have been possible to say that Americans are barbarians and that the Communists are truly humanists who restrain themselves. It did not happen that way. Instead, every morning when Khrushchev awakens, he asks himself the profound question: "To blow up or not to blow up." And when he has cleared his brain with a glass of tea, he decides this monumental question and the world shivers and shakes.

All of this would be of slight significance were it not that there are still Americans who try to apologize for Khrushchev or for the Communists or for the Russian people. Why should Corliss Lamont's press agent tell us that his client thinks that there are large sections of Russian and Chinese who are opposed to what Khrushchev is doing? How does he know anything about it? What evidence does he have? Have there been mass-meetings in Russia protesting Khrushchev's improprieties? Has a single newspaper in Russia or in Red China written a single article against Khrushchev's firing the bomb?

In the old Czarist days, when fiery spirits were driven to Siberia for their opinions, there were underground movements to foment the people to oppose Czarist actions. The founders of the Bolshevik movement in Russia suffered exile for such activities.

Who in Soviet Russia is protesting? When some Chinese raised their voices against Mao Tse-tung's savageries, they were mowed down like grass. And yet, I have personally witnessed a total strike of the entire Chinese people against an unpopular act of government.

No! Corliss Lamont is suffering from wishful thinking when he believes that the Russians are against Khrushchev's barbarisms. The time has not yet come for that—not as long as we permit him to win victories. The problem that we face is not the abolition of the A or H bomb but the establishment of a workable arrangement for the maintenance of world peace.

The Danger Of Attack On Iran And Vietnam

WASHINGTON

By Joseph Alsop

The shortest, least noticed, least grandiosely phrased passage of the President's speech in the United Nations gave the most food for hard thought. It concerned the mounting Communist pressure in southeast Asia, centering at present in Laos and South Vietnam.

If the meeting of the U. N. General Assembly had opened only a few weeks earlier, these few paragraphs would surely have been omitted. In July and August, the government of South Vietnam's courageous President Ngo Dinh Diem was making good progress against the Communist guerrilla forces which are supplied and directed from North Vietnam, and are largely manned by North Vietnamese Communist infiltrators.

In recent weeks, however, there have been three battles of an altogether new kind, one near Kontum towards the Laos border, one close to Ban Methout in the mountain country, and one only a short distance from Saigon, at Thuoc Vinh.

At Kontum, the South Vietnamese regulars suffered a fairly heavy reverse. At Thuoc Vinh, the Communists actually gained control of the provincial capital, and "tried" and shot the provincial governor before being driven out again. But the fact that the reverses were experienced was much less significant than the cause of the reverses.

In all these fights, the Communists high command sent in forces numbering more than a thousand men, more or less. In each case, too, the Communist forces were organized, not in light, hit-and-run guerrilla outfits, but in regular, rather fully-armed battalions.

Furthermore, this sudden appearance of these regular Communist military units in South Vietnam is only a foretaste of what may follow. In the heavy forested country around Kontum, it is believed that the Communists now have between three and four regular regiments, or upwards of four thousand men. Infiltration of more and more such troops through Laos is also continuing.

The numbers cited may not sound enormous. But remember that the defending army is trimmed down, all over the country, by local guerrilla action and threats. Great havoc can therefore be wreaked by relatively small but fully armed and regularly organized hostile forces. Every major French defeat in Indo-China was caused by precisely this Communist tactic, of surprise injection of regular forces to add to the strain of the counter-guerrilla efforts.

What has happened means, in fact, that the Communist North Vietnamese assault on South Vietnam has passed into a quite new and very much more dangerous

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

EXCLUSIVE CLUB — One of the native habitats of the Washington egghead is the Cosmos Club, made up of writers, scientists and the like.

It is one of the most exclusive clubs in Washington and has a long waiting list for new members. The other day a member, rifling through the list of newly-proposed applicants came across the following:

"No. 112 John F. Kennedy, writer, public official, President of the United States. Address: The White House, Washington, D. C."

Kennedy's sponsors were John Kenneth Galbraith, Harvard economics professor and now United States ambassador to India, and James B. Conant, former president of Harvard.

If no one blackbails him, Kennedy will become a full-fledged member in six months.

PARKING TICKETS — Between U. S. government officials and foreign diplomats, Washington police have more trouble than those of other cities in trying to make motorists observe parking regulations.

To give you an idea of the volume of such troubles in Washington, nearly one out of each 14 parking violation tickets was "fixed" before a fine was paid last year.

An annual report shows that Washington police issued 392,074 parking tickets. Of these, 16,744 were "courtesy tickets," carrying a warning but no punishment. Of the remaining total, which carried punishment upon conviction, 27,492 were withdrawn for "adjustment."

This is the first year that such statistics have been made public. The idea of publishing them came from the police chief himself, who is highly disturbed at the high rate of "fixed" tickets.

He doesn't believe that government officials or diplomats incur that many infractions, and is looking into the whole matter to find if the policemen and the local courts are themselves abusing the law.

In the preceding year, when the figures were not published 38,459 parking tickets were, in effect, torn up. The police chief thinks the publicity has accounted for the reduction, and he's out to work the total still lower.

Kennedy Got Sore When Ike Blamed Democrats For Foreign Policy Flop

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON—Shortly before he left Washington, President Kennedy had a breakfast meeting with Democratic members of Congress in which for the first time he took off the gloves against the man whom he called "my predecessor."

Kennedy never mentioned Dwight D. Eisenhower by name. Nor did he lose his temper. But it was obvious that he was plenty burned up at the man whom he had invited back to the White House many times, had ent emissaries up to Gettysburg to keep informed, but who had unmercifully blasted him, Kennedy, before a rip-roaring $100-a-plate GOP dinner in Chicago by declaring, among other things, that the Republicans had no plans to encourage an invasion of Cuba.

"Irresponsible and erroneous" was Kennedy's description of the Eisenhower speech. He added that he was "deeply disturbed and disappointed."

"Some of the problems we face on the international scene, including Laos and Cuba, were definitely inherited from those who now find fault with the way we are handling them," the President declared. "Our critics would do well to consider their own record when they accuse us."

In the past Kennedy has gone out of his way to do just the opposite of what Eisenhower did to Harry Truman after Truman left the White House. However, judging from JFK's recent acidity before House members, it would seem doubtful that Ike will be a regular caller at the White House in the future.

Rain And Sunshine

Kennedy also had some acid comments regarding the manner in which the "Republican press" and the Republican Party distorted the news.

"Farm income is now one billion dollars higher than in the last 11 years," he said dryly. "Frankly, this is chiefly due to the sun and the rain. But if it were the other way around and our Republican friends were in power, I doubt if they would be willing to give the elements any credit."

Kennedy admitted that there might be a federal deficit of more than $4 billion in the current fiscal year, but explained that much of this was due to increased expenditures for certain phases of space and scientific research, "largely neglected by the previous administration." He added that the government eventually would recoup about $800,000,000 from unemployment insurance, farm and housing loans, etc.

"Now, let's look at the record of our critics," he said. "The previous administration had a deficit of $12 billions in one year alone, during the 1958 recession. I might add that we also inherited this recession from them, in addition to foreign policy problems."

"But I am happy about the domestic outlook. We are overcoming the recession. We have stopped inflation. Farm income is the highest in years. The outflow of gold has been reversed, so that the balance is now in our favor. Industrial production was falling off under the previous administration. It is now going up."

Kennedy commented that it was "difficult to get the facts across to the public, because most of our press is controlled by the other party." He said it would be up to Democratic members of Congress to publicize the record by speeches in their districts.

"Give the people the whole story," suggested the President. "Point out that the record shows our critics don't practice the same economy they now advocate for us. For example, during the eight years my predecessor was in office, he spent $188 billion more than President Truman spent, even though there was a war during the Truman Administration."

Washington Whirl

Trans World Airlines has protested bitterly to Congresswoman Edith Green, Oregon Democrat, for booking a flight to Europe on Scandinavian Airlines. She is taking her House Labor Subcommittee to Russia . . . A TWA official complained to her over the phone that President Kennedy has urged Americans to curb their foreign spending in order to keep U. S. gold at home. (SAS makes through connections to Moscow. With American lines you have to change. The State Department recently suspended the direct flight negotiations for U. S. lines which Moscow wanted to conclude) . . . Lufthansa, the German airline, is doing so much business on Capitol Hill that it has named one of its flights to Europe "The Senator." . . . To head off an investigation by Negro Congressman Adam Clayton Powell, Secretary of Labor Arthur Goldberg has asked Congressman James Roosevelt, California Democrat, to investigate discrimination against Negroes in the Labor Department's apprentice program . . . Bernard Baruch, now a ripe 91, recently referred to newsmen Mae Craig as "my favorite grandmother." . . . As President Kennedy was about to sign the $1,700,000,000 space bill, he looked up at Sen. Warren Magnuson, Washington Democrat, who had come to the White House for the ceremony. "What date is it, Warren?" asked the President. The Senator, who was acquainted with every other detail of the bill, scratched his head and confessed: "I don't know."

. . . Vice President Lyndon Johnson confided to friends the other day that he had a few nervous moments after telling Thailand's Dictator, Sarit Thanarat, bluntly that Thailand's should contribute more toward their own development. Sarit replied heatedly with what appeared to be angry gestures. After he concluded his harangue, the interpreter turned to Johnson and said: "He agrees." (Copyright 1961, By The Bell Syndicate)

Jim Bishop: Reporter

The arithmetic of a hurricane is complex. Some factors are known. Some are guessed. About six of these tropical storms are born in the Caribbean each year. In the western Pacific, the average is 20. The South Indian Ocean is visited by 18 each year. The South Atlantic has never had one. Almost all hurricanes are conceived about 15 degrees north or south of the equator. They are always born over water and the spot is close to where the trade winds of two hemispheres converge. The time between infancy and full growth ranges between two days and seven. The baby is seldom more than 20 miles in diameter. The big hurricane is sometimes 150 miles across.

No one knows what spawns a tropical storm, but they occur at the time of the doldrums—September in the Caribbean—when the winds southeast of Puerto Rico are listless and light. They seem to favor certain atmospheric conditions far to the north—Canada highs, for example.

The full grown hurricane looks like an ice cream cone. It is five miles tall, topped by a scoop of cumulonimbus clouds. The cone is widest at the top, narrowest at the bottom. It twirls counterclockwise at speeds from 80 miles per hour to 150.

The bottom, touching the sea, is often only a few miles diameter. This is called the eye. Within it is dead calm. The highest winds are around the eye. The weakest are on the perimeter. The storm, while whirling, moves toward the nearest land mass at 15 miles per hour.

Those coming out of the Caribbean have a broad choice of landfalls. Some head for northern Mexico; others, like Carla this year, move up the Gulf of Mexico to Texas. Some whin northwestward across the Florida keys, then double back to hit Florida from the other side, as Donna did last year.

A few flirt with Bermuda and, once in awhile, a full fledged hurricane moves north to Hatteras, skirting the land mass at the Virginia Capes, and roaring on to New York and New England. These are the most publicized, although the television industry shouts alarms when the hurricane is still in the Caribbean, its future uncertain.

A hurricane is any cyclonic wind exceeding 75 miles per hour. In the Pacific Ocean, they are called typhoons. They have millions of times more energy than the biggest thermonuclear bomb, so much, in fact, that they depress the ocean within the eye of the storm, and send big waves 500 miles in advance of the wind.

The storm area north of the eye is always bigger than the southern side, because the southern trade winds run counter to the hurricane and tend to compress it. Such storms are always abnormally low pressure areas. The eye of one passed the U.S. Naval Station at Key West on Sept. 2, 1935 and the mercury reading was 28.35, the lowest official reading of all time.

Rain rides the hurricane. Low-lying clouds race around the carousel, and it is not unusual to have 12 inches of precipitation. Whatever the rainfall, it increases the moment the storm reaches a land mass. Twenty inches of rain has fallen in a few hours in some southern states, and up to 30 in the Allegheny Mountains, when they are buffeted by a hurricane.

The record is held by Baguio in the Philippines. A hurricane came and went one day and left 42 inches of rain. When the big storm meets land, the storm begins to die. It can spin its dance of death over the seas without losing strength, but when the bottom of the cone begins to scour land, the resistance is too much and, although it will stagger on for a day or two, the winds begin to slow almost at once.

The reason why most Caribbean-bred storms move west, then north, then northeast, is that, in spite of their strength, they are toys for the trade winds. In the far south, the trade winds swing the hurricanes west. When the storm gets to latitude 30, it meets the westerly trade winds, which curve it out to sea.

The duration of the storm is predictable. If it is 150 miles from north to south, and it is moving at 15 miles per hour, it will last 10 hours in any one spot. The first winds will be easterly; the last will be westerly. There are variances to all of these figures, but the mean averages are as given.

Some storms, for no known reason, will stand still over an area for a whole day and beat it to death. I've been through a lot of hurricanes, ranging from 1926 in Miami to Sea Bright, N. J., a few weeks ago.

An ill wind indeed. . . (Copyright 1961, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

Roth Military Ups Standards Of Membership

Society Lists
Officers For Year

KEYSER—The first meeting of the Roth Military Honorary Society will be held October 6.

Revision of the constitution to make the society more select was decided upon by eliminating members for non-payment of dues and failure to attend meetings.

Those eligible for the society will be voted upon. To qualify for membership an ROTC student must have a 3.0 average in military science and maintain a 2.0 academic average.

Appointments will be made for a firing squad for Keyser's Veteran's Day celebration, a planning committee for the military ball and a committee to build a float for the homecoming parade. The social calendar for the year will also be studied.

The society is under the sponsorship of Capt. Thomas E. McBride for the first time this year. He will be assisted by Specialist Five John V. Golaboff.

Officers are J. B. Stonestreet, Commander; J. L. Gordon executive officer; L. H. McConnell, secretary; R. W. Cheves Jr., treasurer and Henry Wood, sergeant-at-arms.

Eckhart Baptists Burn Mortgage

FSTC Hears Of Progress In Teaching Profession

FROSTBURG—"New Times, New Imperatives and New Vision" was the theme of the address by Richard M. Carrigan, director of the Student National Education Association, at the student assembly held in Compton Auditorium, Wednesday afternoon.

On the positive side of education, Mr. Carrigan pointed out that in the teaching profession, much has been done through TEPS (Teacher Education and Professional Standards) to advance the professional standards in education.

"Good teachers attract good teachers," he stated, "and the way to get the quantity as well as the quality in the teaching profession is through high standards."

Mr. Carrigan pointed out that in 1946 only fifteen states required a bachelor degree for elementary teachers. Today, 43 states require it as a minimum and six others have set target dates for the next four years for such a requirement. In 1946, only 45 per cent of the teachers in the elementary field had degrees. Today over 80 per cent are so qualified. In 1946, the salary was barely over $2,000; today, it is $5,389. In 1946, there were 123,000 teachers on emergency certificates or one out of every six; today, 94,000, or one out of every fifteen.

In explaining how this has been accomplished, Mr. Carrigan pointed out: (1) Standards have been improved by seeking quality people. Approximately 30 per cent of the National Honor Society students now enter the teaching profession. (2) The Student National Education Association has developed the professional side of the teacher. (3) Accrediting agencies assure the public that the program of the accredited schools is the best. (4) The National Council for Accreditation of Teacher Education (NCATE) permits graduates of an institution which is accepted by it to participate in a program of reciprocity which is now operating in 22 states. (5) Through professional standards, licensing is being simplified and made more uniform throughout the country.

In conclusion, Mr. Carrigan pointed out that in 1960, there are 1,400,000 engaged in education. He predicted that in 1970, there will be needed for education a total of 1,826,000.

Larry Hopcraft, president of SEA at FSTC, extended greetings and Larry McLean, national president of SNEA, introduced the speaker.

The sophisticates, a group of students including Betsy Hosack, John Clark, Kenneth Moreland, Julie Hendricks, James Cumiskey and Dennis Holler, gave a program of songs, dances and piano numbers.

Keyser Lutherans Attend Synod

KEYSER—Several members of Trinity Lutheran Church were in attendance at the conference of the West Virginia Synod held Monday and Tuesday at Davis, with the main banquet on Monday night being served in the dining room of the lodge at Blackwater Falls State Park.

Mrs. F. E. Workman, a member of the executive board, was official representative of the church. Others in attendance included Rev. and Mrs. Donald D. Anderson, Judge and Mrs. E. A. See, Mrs. Bruce Bradford, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Coffman, William Wolfe, and Mrs. Anna Montgomery.

Approximately 55 persons attended the gathering with most of the business sessions being conducted at the Lutheran Church in Davis.

40-Hour Devotion To Begin Sunday At Keyser Church

KEYSER—The Church of the Assumption will begin its fall schedule Sunday when the traditional Forty Hours Devotion opens with the 10 o'clock mass.

The combined children's and adults' choir will sing the Mass in honor of the Blessed Sacrament by Theodore de La Hache, under the direction of Thomas J. Conlon with Mrs. Mary Handian as organist.

Rev. William D. McGonigle, pastor, will deliver the sermon and following the mass children from St. Frances School will participate in the procession. Services are scheduled Sunday, Monday, and Tuesday evenings at 7:30 and daily masses will be held at 8:15.

Both Fr. McGonigle and Fr. John O'Connell, assistant pastor, will speak at the evening devotions which will include rosary, sermon, and Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament. The children's choir from the school will sing at the Monday and Tuesday morning masses.

Know Your Club Meeting Arranged

KEYSER—Sigma Phi Omega Honor Society of Potomac State College will sponsor the annual "Know Your Organization" convocation October 4, in the auditorium at 11 a.m., according to Dr. Nancy M. Miller, faculty sponsor.

The program is designed to acquaint freshmen and transfer students with organizations on campus. Joseph Giffin, president of the society, will direct the convocation.

Representatives from several campus organizations will be present to speak about the respective groups and their activities.

Commissioners Proclaim Soil Test Week In Bedford

BEDFORD, Pa. — "Whereas the production of our soil is very important to our farmers and entire economy of Bedford County, and whereas fertilizing the farm crops according to their needs as shown by a soil test will increase farm production efficiency, therefore be it resolved that we the duly elected commissioners of Bedford County do hereby declare the week of October 1-7 as Bedford County Soil Test Week." This was the resolution passed by the Board of County Commissioners, Elmer Claycomb, Emmens Buchanan and Robert Foy.

This action came about as a result of a request from the Bedford County Soil Fertility Committee. The committee which was formed about a year ago under the auspices of the Agriculture Extension Rural Development program is working toward "a more prosperous county agriculture through improving soil fertility." Committee membership was appointed by Ellis Sollenberger, Clearville, president of the Bedford County Agriculture Extension Association. They are, Clyde Koontz, RD 4, Bedford, chairman; Loren Woy, RD, Everett; Paul Repligle, RD 1, New Enterprise; Maurice Helsel, RD, Claysburg; Paul Stein, Everett; Carl Delbert, Bedford; Don Gardner, SCS Office, and Jack Muma, ASC Office.

As a step towards their goal the Soil Fertility Committee is making elaborate plans for Soil Test Week, setting the theme, "Don't Guess-Soil Test." It is hoped that at least one sample of soil will be collected from each farm in the county. This would mean 1500 to 2000 soil samples representing fields would be tested.

It is the hope, said Clyde Koontz, chairman, speaking for the entire committee, that the farmer will follow the lime and fertilizer recommendations based on the soil test. If he does then this will be demonstration to himself as to how soil testing can increase his income.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD—Sharmar Douglas introduced me to Harold Prince, who is producing "The Age of Consent" on Broadway. He said he felt getting Art Carney was insurance of the play's success. I had quite a talk with Prince, and he told me that he was also here to cast a hilarious musical comedy "A Funny Thing Happened on the Way to the Forum," set in the days of ancient Rome. He was able to sell Milton Berle on the idea of playing a top role—Uncle Miltie's first appearance on Broadway in seventeen years. Rehearsals will begin in March, and the play to be directed by George Abbott will open on Broadway in early May. I was interested that Stephen Sondheim, who wrote the beautiful lyrics for "West Side Story" of which Prince was also co-director, will do the scoring.

Putting Jimmy Shigeta, the handsome oriental actor, in the role of Sessue Hayakawa sounds like very good casting. Ross Hunter told me that he has taken an option on Hayakawa's autobiography "I Found Zen," some of which concerns Sessue's religious faith. "The only thing that bothers me," said Ross, "is that some of Hayakawa's story is laid in Hong Kong—and you know me. I make my pictures in Hollywood. I don't want to make them out of the U.S.A."

He wants Nancy Kwan to play opposite Shigeta, and says that the Hayakawa story is a real love story in which Hayakawa tells how much his wife did for him in his success.

I certainly admire Vivien Leigh's spunk. When she and Sir Laurence Olivier split up, she didn't let it get her down. She went right back to work.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random: At the Fog Cutters, Marian Nixon, who doesn't look a day older, and director Bill Seiter, celebrated their umpteenth wedding anniversary. At a nearby table, Richard Long and Mara Corday, between quarrels, were celebrating their current reconciliation.

Publicity pro Perry Lieber of 20th Century Fox and his wife, Peggy, celebrated their 35th wedding anniversary at the Sportsmens Lodge Tuesday night. They were presented with a cake while the waiters sang anniversary waltz.

Decora Recording star Brenda leaves her hometown Nashville October 4th for personal appearances in South America.

A luncheon twosome in a corner booth at the Cock 'n' Bull on Sunday was Cary Grant and Diane Cannon, with Cary being at his charming best.

Sharmar Douglas now knows where her next paycheck is coming from. She's going to head up

DECENT, SAYS JURY—Tanned Kay Ellis, 58-year-old divorcee, has a smile for the camera on being found not guilty of indecent exposure by a jury after complaints by her Burlingame, Calif., neighbors. They said she exposed too much of herself while sunbathing beside her backyard swimming pool. One neighbor, asked if he could see through a wire mesh fence between his property and hers, said, "See? Why, it was perfect!"

The New York office of Allan Weber, the new publicity firm.

Ed Goldstone, of Goldstone-Tobias, is leaving his father's agency to concentrate on the management of Juliet Prowse, who is rising as a star. Ed left for New York Thursday to discuss a possible Broadway play for his protegee with David Merrick.

While Harry Karl makes personal appearances at his shoe stores, Debbie Reynolds will travel with him and make appearances for "Second Time Around," her movie for 20th Century-Fox. (Copyright 1961)

In today's hand, declarer should have made a preliminary play in order to determine whether a slam contract which he and his partner had reached.

West opened the four of clubs. Declarer won in his hand and played the ace of spades. When West showed out, life lost its zest for South. The success or failure of the heart finesse now assumed the importance of a mere book-keeping entry.

North pointed out vehemently that resort to a standard safety play would have secured declarer against losing more than one trump trick regardless of the distribution. At trick two he contended that declarer should enter dummy with a diamond in order to lead a small spade and just cover any card East plays. If East shows out, the ace would be played and a low spade dummy would hold the enemy to one trick in that suit.

North's analysis of the safety play is basically sound but not altogether applicable to this case. If South were not faced with the danger of losing a heart trick, North's position would be tenable. But if South has to lose a heart, he must, then, go all-out in an attempt to pick up the trump suit in its entirety.

Maris Returns To New York's Lineup Tonight

Seeks Homer No. 61, Mantle Is Ailing

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Roger Maris will be back in the lineup but Mickey Mantle probably won't when the New York Yankees meet the Boston Red Sox Friday night in the opener of the final series of the year.

Maris is tired but in good health. Mantle is both tired and sick. The star centerfielder, plagued by a virus for over a week, suffered a relapse Wednesday and did not even report to the park. He is expected to be in uniform Friday but even if he plays, he is almost certain to be pulled out after a couple of innings.

Maris is eager to renew his efforts to get home run No. 61, which would make him the only player in history ever to hit more home runs in a season than Babe Ruth. He matched Ruth's 1927 season total by hitting his 60th against Jack Fisher of Baltimore Tuesday night.

The M and M boys were missing from the lineup when the Yankees lost to the Orioles Wednesday. Thursday was an off day for the Yankees.

Whitey Ford, Manager Ralph Houk's candidate to pitch the opener of the World Series against Cincinnati next Wednesday, was slated to start Friday. Houk indicated he will yank his star left-hander after five innings so he will be fresh for the opener.

Navy Varsity Player Dies Of Broken Neck

Donald G. Foley, 19, Suffered Injuries In Grid Practice

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (UPI)—Donald Glenn Foley, who hoped to earn his Navy varsity letter as a fullback this season, died Thursday of injuries incurred in a football practice Wednesday.

Foley, 19, a third classman from Mexia, Texas, suffered a broken neck when hit hard during a ball-carrying assignment in a scrimmage session.

An academy spokesman said Foley was paralyzed immediately upon sustaining the injury.

Foley was pronounced in critical condition Wednesday night. His parents were notified and they flew to Annapolis to be at his bedside.

The player's breathing became labored early Thursday morning and artificial respiration was applied.

Foley, 6-3 and 225 pounds, was a member of the 1960 plebe team. He failed to get into last Saturday's game with Penn State, which Navy lost, 20-10, but was hopeful of playing in this week-end's homecoming game with William and Mary.

Last year, there were 17 football fatalities, three in college, 12 high school, one sandlot and one in the pro-semi pro classification.

The Reds, apparently had the same idea. He named southpaw Jim O'Toole, his probably World Series starter, to oppose the Pirates in Pittsburgh Friday night. It will come as no surprise if Hutch sends O'Toole to the show-ers after five or six innings.

LISTON ACQUITTED OF CRIMINAL CHARGE

Manager Will Ask Boxing Commission To Lift Suspension

By LEE LINDER

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—

Charles (Sonny) Liston, acquitted Thursday of a charge of fleeing arrest by turning off his car lights, hoped his next victory will be in the boxing ring with heavyweight champion Floyd Patterson.

Liston, who held the National Boxing Association ranking of No. 1 heavyweight contender until his July suspension by the Pennsylvania Athletic Commission, was cleared by Common Pleas Judge Joseph A. Gold, who heard the case without a jury.

Liston specifically was accused of driving off without lights when a Fairmount Park guard ordered him to pull over and show identification after a woman motorist complained he forced her to halt in a secluded, wooded area.

The big boxer with massive hands, now being taught to read and write by a Denver, Colo.,

Catholic priest who befriended him a year ago, took the witness stand and denied the charge. He said he may have accidentally knocked off the head lights but the parking lights remained on as he drove at 40 miles-per-hour top speed.

The officer, John Warburton, said Liston's speed ranged to 80. Defense and prosecution attorneys clashed frequently during the day-long court session. At one point the judge said: "I don't see any crime here."

In the end he ruled that way and a happy Liston, wiping the perspiration from his brow, beamed: "It's great, it's great." The next step, said Manager George Katz and attorney Morton Witkin, is to get the suspension lifted so Liston can fight professionally again. His license was lifted because of the car incident.

Allegany Entertains Keyser, LaSalle To Visit Bedford Tonight

Campers Try For Initial Win Of Year

Jackets To Visit Ridgeley; Potomac Will Host Salem

Unsuccessful in two previous tries, Allegany High School's Campers, unbeaten last year, will make another effort to crash the win column when they tackle Coach Frederick Clark's Keyser High School Golden Tornado tonight at 8 o'clock at the local stadium.

Against West Virginia opposition, the Mineral Countians have rolled up 76 points to seven and will be shooting for their fourth consecutive victory. Keyser has whipped Martinsburg 6-0, Charles Town 34-0 and Ridgeley 36-7 while Allegany has bowed to Guilfoyle High of Altoona, Pa., 13-12 and North Hagerstown's Hubs, 18-13.

Clark's 19th At Keyser

An alumnus of Allegany, Coach Clark is in his 19th season as head grid mentor at Keyser where his teams have won 71 per cent of their games. His record at Keyser is 132 wins, 53 losses and five ties. Prior to taking over the reins at Keyser, Clark coached for four years at Moorefield where his teams bogged 78 per cent of their games by posting a 29-8-2 mark.

Coach Jim Manges' LaSalle High School Explorers, victorious in two out of three starts, are slated to tackle the Bedford High Bisons tonight at 8 o'clock in Bedford.

Bedford Is Winless

Bedford, victor over LaSalle eight times in ten meetings, has found the going rough this year and enters tonight's game with an 0-3 record. The Bisons have lost to Everett, 7-6, Somerset 21-7 and Shade-Central 38-7. LaSalle has won two in a row at the expense of St. Francis, Morgantown, 27-0 and Berlin, Pa., 27-0, after being edged by Fort Hill in the opener, 7-6.

The Explorers will be playing their 36th game since the sport was inaugurated at the North Centre Street school in 1928 when Art Slocum was head coach.

Trojans Visit Oakland

At Oakland, Southern's Highlanders (1-2) will be striving to crash the 500 circle when they do battle with St. Francis Trojans of Morgantown tonight. This game is set for 7:30 p. m., EST.

Romney High School, the winningest team in the tri-State area, will be gunning for victory No. 5 when it invades Pocahontas county, W. Va., to play Green Bank High School this afternoon. The Pioneers have disposed of Berkeley Springs, Charles Town, Franklin and Moorefield thus far.

Three PVC Games On Tap

Three Potomac Valley Conference tilts are on the boards for today. Tom O'Connor's Ridgeley Blackhawks host the Moorefield Yellow Jackets at 2:30, the Circleville Indians opposes the West Virginia School for the Deaf at Romney at 2:30 and Petersburg's Vikings tackle the Franklin Panthers in the latter's lair at 1:30 EST.

In other Friday action, Mountaineer High of Thomas plays the Parsons Panthers for the second time this season under the lights at Parsons. Harpers Ferry visits Berkeley Springs and Mel Henry's North Hagerstown Hubs journey to Frederick to meet the Cadets tonight in a Cumberland Valley Athletic League contest. Westminster's Owls step out of the C.V.A.L. tonight to test Bel Air High at Westminster.

Salem Visits Keyser

On the college front, the Salem College Tigers of Coach Ted Underwood tangle with "Horse" Lough's Potomac State Catamounts today at 2 p. m., at Staysman Field, Keyser, in a West Virginia Conference game. Both teams have played two games to date and have 1-1 records.

Steve Could Make It Johnson Year At CCC

Young Golf Star And Mother Have Shared Spotlight

If young Steve Johnson wins the fall golf championship at the Cumberland Country Club this must be recorded as the "Johnson Year" in the 40-year history of the sport at the Christie Road Club.

George Petras

Steve, who is scheduled to meet George Petras, 1959 winner, in the 36-hole final on Sunday at 10 a. m., won the spring handicap tournament, copped the Jaycee district tournament there, won the state Jaycee tournament in Baltimore, and was unable to compete in the Jaycee International because of an arm injury.

Mother In Spotlight

Steve's mother, Mrs. Henry Johnson, who teaches at Allegany High School, grabbed off the other golf honors for the family by winning the women's title at the CCC this year and to add more glory she shot a hole-in-one.

In the current tourney, Steve won by default over Harry White in the first round and then moved to the finals by disposing of Dr. Frank Cawley, Orville Jackson and Bob Davis. Petras downed Ed Mattingly, John Wilson, who lost to John Rokisky in the finals last year, Joe Gratton and Jerome Ellenson.

Won Eleven Times

The winningest member of the club in the past 39 fall tournaments was Charles S. "Bill" Catherman, Jr., who bagged a total of eleven titles. His record includes a pair of "triples" — 1937, 1938 and 1939 and 1956, 1957 and 1958.

Martin Tenney, Jr., the "boy wonder" of the late 1920s, copped four fall championships at the CCC.

Tenney, incidentally, was city golf champion at Little Rock, and won the Arkansas state title several times.

Past CCC winners:

Cardinal tackle Ernie McMillan is a brother of Shellie McMillan of the Detroit Pistons basketball team. The difference in spelling traces back to their birth certificates.

Bob Scholtz, ex-Notre Dame football player, appeared in all Detroit Lion League games last season as a center.

McElhenny Has Broken Toe; To Miss Colts Game

BALTIMORE (AP) — Hugh McElhenny, veteran National Football League halfback, was declared out of Sunday's game between the Minnesota Vikings and Baltimore Colts.

John Thompson, Viking publicist, said Thursday McElhenny would not play because of a broken toe on his left foot. He broke it last Sunday when he ran into a bench while warming up, but played the entire offense for Minnesota against the Dallas Cowboys.

Replacing McElhenny, who played nine years with San Francisco before being traded to the new Minnesota team, will be Tommy Mason, a rookie from Tulane.

Tommy Mont To Gather East-West Game Players

Post-Season Contest Set For Washington's New Stadium Jan. 7

By SAM FOGG
United Press International

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The nation's capital is arranging a brand new bowl game to go with its brand new stadium.

Plans for the post-season contest to be known as the U.S. Bowl were announced here Thursday. It will feature an East-West clash of college all stars on Jan. 7 in the new 50,000-seat District of Columbia stadium which opens for business this Sunday.

The contest 'is being billed as the last bowl game of the season. Sponsors are hopeful of collecting an array of top flight players from the regular New Year bowl game squads as well as other All-American talent.

They conceded they are running into a conflict with the Annual Senior Bowl game at Mobile which is scheduled for Jan. 6 but they expressed belief they can round up an imposing list of talent. The backers of the new bowl noted that they will benefit from the fact their line-up will not be racially segregated.

Tommy Mont

Heading up the new bowl operation are Joseph Tubiolo, who has managed baseball exhibition tours in the past, and James Castiglia, former Georgetown University and Washington Redskins player. They announced that Tommy Mont, head football coach at DePauw University and former coach at Maryland, has been assigned to round up players for the two squads. The Mississippi River has been set as the dividing line for the rivalry.

Fish have been found three miles deep in the ocean and crows have been seen on Mount Everest, more than five miles above sea level.

WVU Makes Soccer Debut Oct. 2, Plays Frostburg Jayvees

MORGANTOWN, W. Va. (UPI)

— West Virginia University's first soccer team will take the field Monday afternoon here with only players allowed to touch the Frostburg, Md. College Jayvees ball with their hands.

providing the opposition. The 40-member WVU team has been working out several weeks. Coach Jim Markel said the boys have had some difficulty remembering not to use their hands to attempt to block passes. In soccer, the goalies are the only players allowed to touch the ball with their hands.

STA-DRI paint to the rescue. It seals water out of masonry.

Don't wait until you have to swim down to find the leaks in your basement. Paint porous masonry walls with Sta-Dri Masonry Paint that's supplied in a variety of beautiful decorator colors and white. It comes in many package sizes for economical treatment of large or small jobs. Just mix the powdered ingredients with water and apply with brush or spray inside, outside, above or below grade on all porous masonry. Ask today for complete details.

Capable of holding a wall of water nine feet high without leakage

Read what the experts say about anti-freeze:

Car manufacturers:

Check your car owner's manual. Most Detroit car manufacturers advise draining the cooling system, then filling with fresh anti-freeze every fall.

Automotive engineers:

Engineers have been quick to point out that there's nothing really new in anti-freeze. The so-called "2-year" and "no-drain" products are ethylene glycol plus inhibitors. Ethylene glycol was introduced by "Prestone" Anti-Freeze in 1927.

Experienced owners:

By making it today's best-selling anti-freeze, millions of car owners say "Prestone" Anti-Freeze is best. Insist on the world's most tested, most trusted winter protection: "Prestone" brand Anti-Freeze with its exclusive Magnetic Film.

Those who have a choice, choose VESPA

Giants Grab Series Final From Buccos

Stuart Belts 33rd In 7 To 4 Defeat

By DICK FONTANA
United Press International

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — Right-handers Jim Duffalo and Stu Miller combined talents Thursday night to pitch the San Francisco Giants to a 7-4 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates in the final meeting of the year between the two teams.

Duffalo, who had weathered a shaky second inning, was driven from the mound in the eighth after surrendering one run on a double and a single. He was replaced by Miller, who retired the side after pinch-hitter Walt Moryn's single loaded the bases. Miller then blanked the Pirates in the ninth.

A crowd of 5,384, smallest at Forbes Field in two years, sat in as San Francisco won the season series 12 games to 10.

Dick Stuart led off the Pirate second with his 33rd home run of the year. Smokey Burgess added his 12th, a two-run blast to stake starter and loser Earl Francis to a 3-0 lead.

The Giants got two runs in the third on Duffalo's double, Matty Alou's single, a wild pitch and Felipe Alou's single.

A six-hit, four-run fifth inning put the game on ice and sent Francis to the showers. The key hit was Jose Pagan's two-run single. The Giants picked up another run in the seventh off reliever Clem Labine.

Stuart's homer set a Pirate record for first baseman, while Burgess' shot bettered his own standard for catchers.

Appeal Heard On DES Ruling At Amcelle

Referee Will Make Decision

A hearing was held here yesterday by a special examiner of the Department of Employment Security in connection with appeals filed for furloughed employees of the Amcelle plant whose claims for unemployment benefits were rejected.

Bernard Streett, Baltimore, was referee at the appeals hearing held in the local DES office on the issue of whether or not recent furloughs at the plant resulted from a work stoppage due to a labor dispute.

The DES referee will submit his decision after studying testimony taken at the three-hour hearing.

Maryland's Unemployment Compensation Law provides in Section 6 (c) that an individual is disqualified for benefits if he is unemployed due to a stoppage of work because of a labor dispute.

Exceptions are provided for workers not directly interested in the labor dispute and for certain grades or classes of workers.

Applications for unemployment benefits were filed by some 1,400 employees of the Amcelle plant of Celanese Fibers Company furloughed due to unauthorized machine stoppages in the extrusion (spinning) department of the plant.

Three Groups Paid

At the hearing, claims of all workers were based on those filed by Melvin C. Harris, Charles H. Brode and Lillian C. Burch.

Celanese Fibers Company was represented by William J. Gephart, local attorney, and Hudson Nix, industrial relations manager of the Amcelle plant.

Local 1874, TWUA, was represented by Leslie J. Clark, local attorney; James R. Stewart, president, and Silas Switzer, TWUA international representative.

The applications were rejected, with three exceptions, due to a finding by the DES that a labor dispute existed.

Francis A. Kenney, manager of the local DES office, said three groups have been paid unemployment benefits. They include those furloughed before July 11, those who were paid technological displacement allowances, and several Celanese Polymers Company workers at the plant.

Cites 600 Incidents

Mr. Nix said the number of hourly paid employees in June ranged between 2,100 and 2,200, a little less than normal, but that employment was gradually picking up when the trouble began.

The furloughs, he said, were necessary due to unauthorized production interferences and tampering with machines in the extrusion department.

The company early this summer decided, he said, to revise workloads to take advantage of technological improvements in the department. This resulted in the displacement of 38 workers.

The DES referee was briefed on negotiations held by the company and union in connection with the proposal for new work assignments.

Mr. Nix said a series of unauthorized interferences with machines began about July 14, shortly after the change was proposed, and continued for about six weeks. They included, he said, over 600 incidents involving stopping of machines or tampering with mechanisms.

Production Up

He said the incidents greatly slowed down production, which was about a third during the height of the trouble. Production is now somewhat more than half and is steadily improving.

The machine stoppages are not new, it was brought out in questioning by Mr. Clark, but never occurred to the extent reported during July and August.

One man has been discharged as a result of an incident in the department, it was noted.

Mr. Nix said the trouble has been a real concern to both the company and the union.

Mr. Stewart, president of the union, said the union did all it possibly could to stop the trouble and cited provisions in by-laws of the local and of TWUA for disciplinary action.

He said the union made it plain that anyone caught stopping machines would be sent out of the plant as soon as possible.

He said coming and other de-

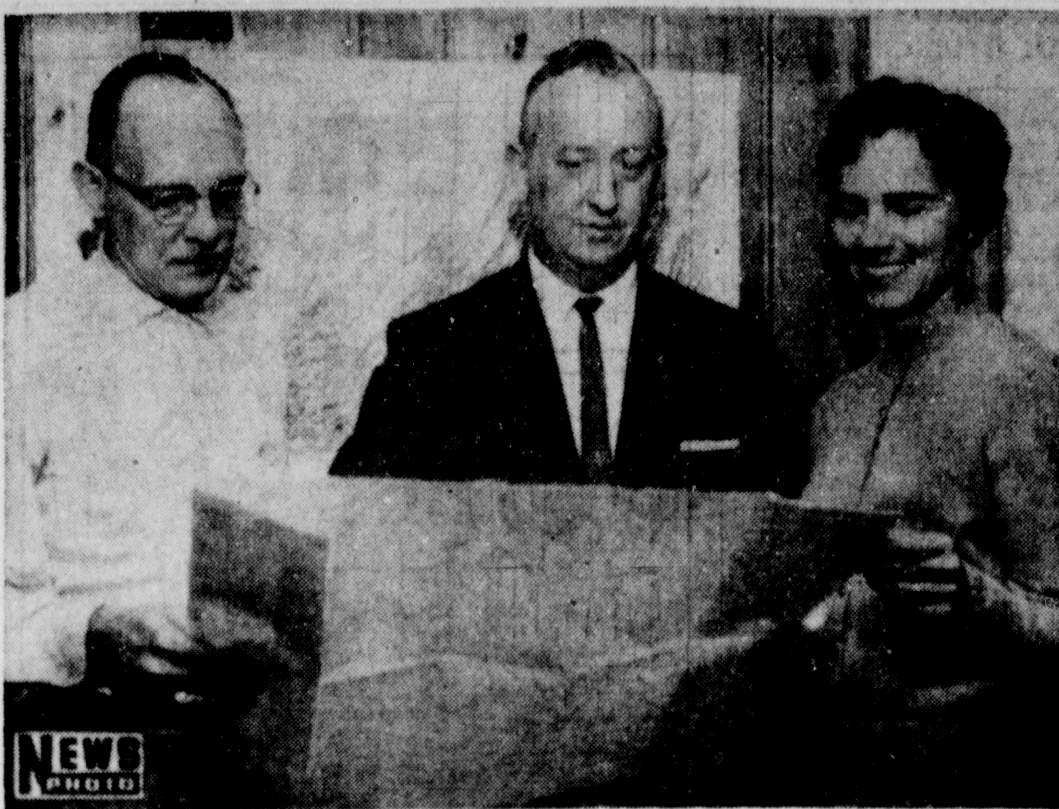

Man Hurt In Car Accident

A Grantsville area man was hospitalized here yesterday afternoon with injuries he reportedly sustained in an auto accident near McCoole earlier in the day.

Elmer F. Dick, 57, of RD 2, Grantsville, complained of pain in his chest and sustained abrasions of the chest, said attaches at Sacred Heart Hospital.

Maryland State Police had no report of the accident until they were notified by the hospital after the man was taken there in the ambulance of the Cresaptown Volunteer Fire Company.

Mr. Dick was taken to the home of a son, Earl F. Dick, Cresaptown, after the accident and later was brought into the local hospital.

Planning Unit Sees Maps On County Trends

Members of the Allegany County Planning and Zoning Commission were shown a number of county maps last night depicting land use, potential industrial sites and revealing traffic flows on principal roads.

These maps were shown the commission members by Julian Tarrant of the planning consultant firm of Ladislav Segoe and Associates, Cincinnati, Ohio. This firm has been employed by the county since August 1960 to prepare a comprehensive master plan for the county.

The land use map showed the location of industries, businesses, recreation areas, churches and schools in the county. The industrial site map primarily had checked locations along the Potomac River Valley between Cumberland and Keyser.

Traffic flow, which ranged from a high of more than 15,000 vehicles daily in the Narrows to fewer than 1,000 a day on State Route 51 opposite Paw Paw, W. Va., was shown on another map. Data for this map was compiled by the State Roads Commission through much of 1960.

Another map which Mr. Tarrant showed the commission members marked the location of dilapidated buildings in the county. Mr. Tarrant, who makes his home in Richmond, Va., said the survey team which toured the county last summer found comparatively few houses classed as dilapidated. All of these maps are incomplete.

C. Lee Renaud, the county's new planning director, who assumed his duties here Sept. 1, presented suggested by-laws for the commission. After a number of relatively minor changes were agreed upon, it was decided to table the by laws until next month.

Mr. Renaud also showed the commission members copies of a distinctive symbol which he plans to use on the commission's new letterheads.

All five members of the commission were present. They include Richard Winer, chairman; James A. Perrin, Carl O. Belt, Ralph M. Race and County Commissioner John T. Mason.

Fire Damages Apartment On Ella Avenue

2 Units Called; Trash Blaze Blamed

The outside frame stairway entrance and attic of a second-floor apartment at 1100 Ella Avenue in South Cumberland were damaged yesterday in a two-alarm fire. No one was reported injured.

Firemen were able to keep the fire confined to the attic and kept it from spreading into the four-room apartment, which was damaged by water and smoke.

South End firemen received an initial call from Central about 5 p. m. As the firemen were turning off Virginia Avenue toward the scene of the blaze they noticed heavy smoke and radioed to Central for help.

A trash fire burning near the two-story brick building which houses Joe's Cut Rate Store, was the apparent cause of the blaze, firemen said.

The outside frame stairway leading to the upstairs apartment caught fire and the blaze ate its way up the stairs, burned the apartment door and traveled up into the attic of the building.

No one was home at the time of the fire, according to firemen, who said none of the furniture was damaged by fire, although there was smoke and water damage.

Steps were taken by the firemen to prevent the least possible damage to the store on the first floor.

Firemen from Central tapped back in at the station at 7:48 p. m., although the night crew at South End which relieved their fellow firemen about 6:30 p. m. did not tap in until about 8:30 p. m.

The firemen remained on the scene to make sure the fire was completely out and also to clean up debris.

Canteen Course At Luke

A canteen and emergency feeding program sponsored by the Westernport-Luke Branch Chapter of the Red Cross in Allegany County will be outlined at the Luke Community Building beginning Monday at 7:30 p. m.

Mrs. Gladys Eaton, dietician and supervisor of cafeterias in public schools of Allegany County, will be in charge of the course.

On Monday evening Mrs. Robert Gerson, chairman of volunteer workers of the county chapter and Mrs. Sara G. Lindsay, executive secretary of the chapter, will attend the opening session and orient the 22 interested persons who have registered for the program.

The program, said Mrs. Lindsay, will consist of two hours of orientation and 16 hours of discussion of the canteen and mass feeding course.

Sessions will be held on successive Mondays, she added. Those interested in taking the course may do so by reporting to the Community Building on Monday night or by contacting Bella Toney, acting chairman of the branch, who resides in Westernport.

Westvaco Names New Comptroller

Charles J. Hickey has been appointed comptroller of West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company.

A certified public accountant and an attorney, Mr. Hickey joined the company in 1960 as tax manager and was appointed assistant comptroller last June. He was tax attorney for W. R. Grace Co. before his association with the paper company.

He holds A. B. and LL. B. degrees from Yale University and studied for two years at the Northwestern University Graduate School of Business Administration.

Mr. Hickey succeeds Stuart W. McLaughlin, who has resigned.

Civil War Auxiliary Unit Forms And Elects Officers

The Cumberland Continentals Ladies Auxiliary was organized Wednesday at a meeting at City Hall by a group of women interested in Civil War activities.

Officers of the unit are Mrs. Fritz Haselberger, president; Mrs. Larry Groer, vice president; Mrs. Edwin Wampler, secretary; Mrs. Ron Martin, treasurer, and Mrs. Robert Martin, fashion director.

The auxiliary also discussed the different aspects of Civil War dress styles which included house and field dresses and semi-formal, formal and ball gowns.

Several of the auxiliary's married members plan to outfit their whole families with Civil War dress so all may take part in all of the re-enactments and commemoration activities.

Although there was a good turnout at Wednesday's meeting, the auxiliary hopes additional women will join the group and take part in the Civil War Centennial activities. All women 18 years old or over, married or single, are invited to join the unit.

Additional information about the auxiliary may be obtained by contacting Mrs. Haselberger at PA 4-6674 or Mrs. Groer at OV 9-8581.

U. Of Md. Offers TV Course On Behavior

Allegany County teachers and parents, especially those enrolled in the parent-child study program, were reminded yesterday by Homer S. Higgins, supervisor of pupil personnel, of a televised course on factors that influence the learning and behavior of children from six to 13 years of age.

The instructor will be Dr. Daniel A. Prescott, director emeritus of the Institute for Child Study of the University of Maryland.

The course, which may or may not be taken for credit, will be presented by the University of Maryland through the cooperation of Stations WTOP-TV in Washington and WMAL-TV in Baltimore.

It will be presented every Tuesday and Thursday from 6:30 until 7 a. m. beginning October 3 and ending January 18.

Mr. Higgins pointed out that 225 women have enrolled in the parent-child study programs now under way in county schools. They should particularly want to observe this televised course.

Dr. Thomas G. Pullen Jr., state superintendent of schools, has written to all county school superintendents, supervisors of elementary schools and supervisors of pupil personnel recommending the course.

"Our experience with Dr. Prescott since 1945 has shown us the value of his approach to understanding the mental, social, emotional and physical development of children," Dr. Pullen wrote.

Firemen Called To Hill Street

East Side firemen were called to 512 Hill Street yesterday afternoon when a rubbish fire got out of control.

They said a salvage company is in the process of tearing down some homes and were burning rubbish when the fire got out of hand.

Firemen kept the flames from spreading to a nearby occupied dwelling. They got the call at 1:40 p. m. and were on the scene about an hour.

The Weather Frost Predicted During Night In This Section

The mercury started a sharp downward trend last night and some scattered frost was predicted in the mountains by morning.

The Weather Bureau said the lowest readings by morning will be in the 30s. By 10 p. m. last night the temperature had dropped to 55 degrees and was still falling.

Yesterday the downtown high was 72 degrees and the same sunny and cool weather is expected to continue today.

The lowest readings in the area yesterday were recorded by the State Roads Commission at Oakland and Town Hill. Each station registered 38 degrees. In Cumberland, the overnight low yesterday was 50 degrees, while LaVale reported 42 degrees.

Macy Firm Branches Into Real Estate

The Macy Insurance Agency Inc. recently has branched into the real estate business with Allan D. Macy, vice president of the firm, as licensed real estate broker.

Mr. Macy previously was associated with the Goodfellow Agency, realtors, as a real estate salesman.

The Macy firm was established in 1922 and previously has been exclusively an insurance agency. Mr. Macy believes this expansion will enable the firm to provide better service for its clients. The real estate business will share offices with the insurance firm at 20 Greene Street.

Plan Car Wash

The Youth Fellowship of Centre Street Methodist Church will hold a car wash Saturday from 10 a. m. to 4 p. m. on the church parking lot.

LaVale Girl, 4, Hit By Car, In 'Poor' Condition

Mary E. Doubet Is Hospitalized Here

A four-year-old LaVale girl was reported in "poor" condition last night in Sacred Heart Hospital where she was admitted earlier in the day with injuries sustained when she was hit by a car.

Mary Elizabeth Doubet, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Doubet, 125 Park Avenue, sustained a possible fractured skull, fractured right thigh and laceration on her skull, authorities said.

State Police said the accident occurred at 3:30 p. m. on U.S. Route 40 about a mile west of Cumberland.

They said the girl was walking with her mother, but broke away and darted into the path of an auto being driven east by Alma Bush, 63, of East Stroudsburg, Pa.

Police said the woman apparently was driving at a normal rate of speed and the probable cause of the accident was inattention on the part of the girl.

Trooper C. R. Mauzy investigated the accident which occurred near Dressman's Store.

Boy Injured In Accident At Piedmont

Two separate accidents which occurred in Piedmont yesterday caused injuries to a five-year-old boy and property damage to three automobiles.

Ricky Butler, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Butler, West Fairview Street, Piedmont was injured when the wagon he was riding ran into a car being driven along Fairview Street by Paul Haggerty, of RD 1, Keyser.

The child sustained cuts on his right and left hand and brush burns on his leg. He was reported to have been riding his wagon down the hill at an intersection near his home and ran into the car. Patrolman Eugene Spiker investigated the accident at 6 p. m.

Three cars which were following in the line of traffic behind a school bus were damaged extensively in a chain reaction accident about 3:30 p. m. on West Hampshire Street.

The school bus had stopped and a car being driven by Noah R. Boyce of RD 2, Keyser, rammed into the rear of a car operated by Lester Clifford of here, whose car rammed into the rear of a car driven by Dallas Mason of West Harrison Street.

Boyce was charged with reckless driving and is to appear before Mayor Donald Mellor at 7 p. m. October 4. Police Chief Charles Spiker and Patrolman Eugene Spiker investigated. No one was injured in the accident.

Zimmer Speaks At Hyndman

Dr. Robert S. Zimmer, president of Allegany Community College here, last night was guest speaker at the education night program of the Lions Club at Hyndman, Pa.

He spoke on the college program which recently got under way here.

The college president was introduced by Wade Kipp, principal of the Hyndman-Londonderry High School, who said the people of Hyndman feel the local college offers additional opportunities for those who reside in that community.

Honored guests at last night's meeting included some 30 teachers and members of the Hyndman-Londonderry Merged School Board with Frank Burkett as president.

One of the two most recently retired teachers, Mrs. Blanche Wise, who retired a year ago, was present. She is now serving as a substitute teacher.

Unable to attend was Miss Alta Diehl, who also retired a year ago but she is still teaching "homebound" or handicapped pupils of the area.

Lion President David Horner presided at the first meeting of the fall season. Mr. Kipp was in charge of the program.

Red Cross Course Under Way

A social welfare aide course sponsored by Allegany Chapter of the Red Cross got under way at Ali Ghan Shrine Club this week and will conclude on Wednesday and Thursday of next week. Left to right are Mrs. William S. Jenkins, of Frostburg, who is taking the course; Miss Violet Babcock, home service representative from Alexandria, Va., instructor; Mrs. Ruth Millenson, LaVale, also taking the course; and Mrs. Marion Barkman, home service secretary. The prime purpose of the social welfare aide group is to assist families before they become involved in serious problems. Twelve local and area women are enrolled.

The program, said Mrs. Lindsay, will consist of two hours of orientation and 16 hours of discussion of the canteen and mass feeding course.
